Michael,

Hi there. This email is from me to you. Are you really hearing that there will be gawkers and camping out? Oh, mercy. Judge Newman (and I) want to make sure that our local media and other media and news outlets get the priority. I do have a list of about 15 to 20 private citizens who have asked to have a seat. Court TV will be the main plug. They have worked that out with Judge Newman. We will be opening daily at 8 am. If you would like to come early, you are more than welcome to. Just keep in contact with me and we will get you on in.

I'm hoping that we are ready for this. We will be. I look for a huge crowd, more than what Walterboro has ever seen. We are doing our best to plan for it. Any suggestions are more than welcome.

Look forward to hearing from you.

Happy New Year to you as well. We have updated our Colleton County Clerk of Court website online. If you could please direct other media that you speak with about it, that would be much appreciated. We do have some restrictions about what can be brought into courtroom, however, Judge Newman does not want to risk any pictures of the jury. Court TV will be the main plug that other media can plug into. We have a huge building called the Walterboro Wildlife Center across the street from the courthouse that will be used to house any media that would like to set up in there.

There is a Media Form on the website that you can use to fill out and email back to me and I will make sure the judge signs it. This is for entry into the courthouse and let's us know who all will be attending the trial from your group. Please make sure all of you have Media ID.

Also, if you hear of anyone looking for a space to rent or lodging, I have several places that have reached out to me with their information and all are in the downtown Walterboro area.

Let me know if you have any further questions.

Sincerely,

Hi Michael!

I've received your Media form and have it printed out and you are on the list for courtroom. However, Judge Newman has decided that Court TV will be the one and only main plug for the courtroom as far as cameras and streaming go. Journalists, newspapers, other media are welcome to the courtroom, but we are not allowing smart phones, smart watches, cameras, any digital technology whatsoever. We will have a media overflow room over at the Wboro Wildlife Center. We have updated our Colleton County Clerk of Court Website to reflect these instructions by the judge. Please feel free to reach out to me at any time.

How is the book coming along? I had a question about the Stephen Smith story....I've heard that his shirt was one color, and then another source said it was a different color, and now all of the main evidence in his case has mysteriously disappeared. Do you know anything behind that? Also, wondering what SLED may have found that opened his case up. And do we know if Gloria Satterfield's body has been exhumed yet?

Happy New Year to you!!

You will have a seat. No need to be there early. One day if you're around, stop by and I can show you our setup and how we plan to sit people.

See you soon.

To: "Charlotte Norwood" <publisher@lowcountry.com>

The Murdaugh trial is coming to our town and the Front Porch of the Lowcountry is doing what it does best by putting out its welcome mat.

Monday, January 23, 2023, the jury selection process will begin at the courthouse and the trial is expected to start immediately thereafter. Here are a few facts to know in anticipation of the downtown courthouse square getting rounded up.

The Colleton County Courthouse's Clerk of Court, Rebecca H. Hill, states that the courthouse will be open for business as usual from 8:00 am to 5:00 pm. They have planned an entryway for the general public entering the courthouse to do non-trial business, and another entryway for the media and the public who will be coming for the trial.
Parking will be available around part of the courthouse, the old Ford building, in the city parking lot, around the downtown area, and in front of First Baptist Church in the parking lot.

The Walterboro Wildlife Center run by Scott Grooms, Walterboro's new City Tourism Director, will be the central location for media to gather and report while the Murdaugh trial is being held. Becky and Scott, along with the WPD and CCSO have been in discussions concerning the organization of the downtown courthouse area to anticipate the needs of the public that will be visiting our quaint city. They hope to make a positive impact on a negative situation that has brought international attention to a beautiful town called Walterboro.

One of the positive impacts being brought in is the food trucks near the courthouse square, next to the Walterboro Wildlife Center. The need to have lunch and food breaks in a timely manner will help court run more smoothly and in a more reasonable amount of time. Perhaps without the food trucks, the judge would have to recess for two to three hours just for everyone involved to have lunch and make it back to the courthouse to park and get checked back in to resume the trial. What an amazing idea to bring in the food truck to help supplement the downtown eateries and restaurants around our town.

Our Main Street businesses will be open and ready for business -- even staying open later if needed to accommodate our guests who are here for the trial to destress, shop, eat, and take advantage of all the treasures and services our merchants have to offer: a variety of dining choices, coffee, massage, nail and hair salon services, unique shops for clothing, gifts, shoes, jewelry, painting, creative arts, and there is even more than that!

We choose to focus on the positives that our town has to offer, even if there is a trial going on. The red rocking chairs are available to come sit in and rock. The stores are stocked and ready to roll. Our restaurants are ready to serve. We love our town. We, the people, make it beautiful, strong, and a wonderful place to live.

It needs a stronger ending probably. But hopefully, you can work with this.

Kind regards,

Hi Brown,

Are you available today for me to walk over and look at your office space possibilities? I also am looking for parking for my courthouse employees during the trial to keep them out of the spotlight and crowd of the media and am wondering about your green space located behind you, sort of, and is accessed by the one way Walter Street location.

Let me know your availability today or next week.

Thank you!

Good afternoon, Carol,

Thank you for the media form. I have to advise that Judge Newman is not allowing any filming of the jury selection process. In fact, no media will be in the courtroom on the jury selection days. We have updated our Colleton County Website under the Clerk of Court tab to include information on the Murdaugh Trial. Please let me know if you have any questions.

I am attaching the jury questionnaire which Judge Newman has allowed the release of. We have not received any witness lists. Please feel free to call any time!

Also, check out our website for the Clerk of Court's office on the www.colletoncounty.org and you can see info on the Murdaugh Trial on our website. It is updated every few days.

The Murdaugh trial is coming to our town and the Front Porch of the Lowcountry is doing what it does best by putting out its welcome mat.

Monday, January 23, 2023, the jury selection process will begin at the courthouse and the trial is expected to start immediately thereafter. Here are a few facts to know in anticipation of the downtown courthouse square getting rounded up.

The Colleton County Courthouse's Clerk of Court, Rebecca H. Hill, states that the courthouse will be open for business as usual from 8:00 am to 5:00 pm. They have planned an entryway for the general public entering the courthouse to do non-trial business, and another entryway for the media and the public who will be coming for the trial.
Parking will be available around part of the courthouse, the old Ford building, in the city parking lot, around the downtown area, and in front of First Baptist Church in the parking lot.

The Walterboro Wildlife Center run by Scott Grooms, Walterboro's new City Tourism Director, will be the central location for media to gather and report while the Murdaugh trial is being held. Becky and Scott, along with the WPD and CCSO have been in discussions concerning the organization of the downtown courthouse area to anticipate the needs of the public that will be visiting our quaint city. They hope to make a positive impact on a negative situation that has brought international attention to a beautiful town called Walterboro.

One of the positive impacts being brought in is the food trucks near the courthouse square, next to the Walterboro Wildlife Center. The need to have lunch and food breaks in a timely manner will help court run more smoothly and in a more reasonable amount of time. Perhaps without the food trucks, the judge would have to recess for two to three hours just for everyone involved to have lunch and make it back to the courthouse to park and get checked back in to resume the trial. What an amazing idea to bring in the food truck to help supplement the downtown eateries and restaurants around our town.

Our Main Street businesses will be open and ready for business -- even staying open later if needed to accommodate our guests who are here for the trial to destress, shop, eat, and take advantage of all the treasures and services our merchants have to offer: a variety of dining choices, coffee, massage, nail and hair salon services, unique shops for clothing, gifts, shoes, jewelry, painting, creative arts, and there is even more than that!

We choose to focus on the positives that our town has to offer, even if there is a trial going on. The red rocking chairs are available to come sit in and rock. The stores are stocked and ready to roll. Our restaurants are ready to serve. We love our town. We, the people, make it beautiful, strong, and a wonderful place to live.

It needs a stronger ending probably. But hopefully, you can work with this.

The Murdaugh trial is coming to our town and the Front Porch of the Lowcountry is doing what it does best by putting out its welcome mat.

Monday, January 23, 2023, the jury selection process will begin at the courthouse and the trial is expected to start immediately thereafter. Here are a few facts to know in anticipation of the downtown courthouse square getting rounded up.

The Colleton County Courthouse's Clerk of Court, Rebecca H. Hill, states that the courthouse will be open for business as usual from 8:00 am to 5:00 pm. They have planned an entryway for the general public entering the courthouse to do non-trial business, and another entryway for the media and the public who will be coming for the trial.
Parking will be available around part of the courthouse, the old Ford building, in the city parking lot, around the downtown area, and in front of First Baptist Church in the parking lot.

The Walterboro Wildlife Center run by Scott Grooms, Walterboro's new City Tourism Director, will be the central location for media to gather and report while the Murdaugh trial is being held. Becky and Scott, along with the WPD and CCSO have been in discussions concerning the organization of the downtown courthouse area to anticipate the needs of the public that will be visiting our quaint city. They hope to make a positive impact on a negative situation that has brought international attention to a beautiful town called Walterboro.

One of the positive impacts being brought in is the food trucks near the courthouse square, next to the Walterboro Wildlife Center. The need to have lunch and food breaks in a timely manner will help court run more smoothly and in a more reasonable amount of time. Perhaps without the food trucks, the judge would have to recess for two to three hours just for everyone involved to have lunch and make it back to the courthouse to park and get checked back in to resume the trial. What an amazing idea to bring in the food truck to help supplement the downtown eateries and restaurants around our town.

Our Main Street businesses will be open and ready for business -- even staying open later if needed to accommodate our guests who are here for the trial to destress, shop, eat, and take advantage of all the treasures and services our merchants have to offer: a variety of dining choices, coffee, massage, nail and hair salon services, unique shops for clothing, gifts, shoes, jewelry, painting, creative arts, and there is even more than that!

We choose to focus on the positives that our town has to offer, even if there is a trial going on. The red rocking chairs are available to come sit in and rock. The stores are stocked and ready to roll. Our restaurants are ready to serve. We love our town. We, the people, make it beautiful, strong, and a wonderful place to live.

It needs a stronger ending probably. But hopefully, you can work with this.

Hi Brown,

Are you available today for me to walk over and look at your office space possibilities? I also am looking for parking for my courthouse employees during the trial to keep them out of the spotlight and crowd of the media and am wondering about your green space located behind you, sort of, and is accessed by the one way Walter Street location.

Let me know your availability today or next week.

Thank you!

I will be working all day at the courthouse and available to meet you at the firm if you are available and have time. If not, just let me know a date and time.

Look forward to hearing from you.

Ms. Hill,

Hope all is well. Just wanted to touch base and let you know that we have considerable space for rent directly behind the courthouse. If any requests potential spaces, please feel free to have them contact me.

Also, if the staff of the courthouse needs more space, I'd like an opportunity to show you want we have for long term rent.

Hi Avery,

Good to hear from you. We have put updated information on the Colleton County Clerk of Court website for the Murdaugh trial that I believe you will find helpful. It is www.colletoncounty.org . We will have 2 overflow areas: one located inside the courthouse in the Family Court Courtroom which holds @ 20 people and the other one located across the street from the courthouse in the Walterboro Wildlife Center. We are only allowing one representative from each media inside the courtroom. There can be a switch if needed, and a badge access in addition to the Media Access Badge given out daily.

If we need to talk by phone, I agree it is much easier. Let me know, and I will give you a call.

Take care,

Hey Ms. Becky! Happy New Year! We got all of the complete questionnaires from you guys, but we're hoping to get the actual jury list – we desperately need to start running criminal histories on all of these folks and are running out of time. I think close to 900(?) people were summonsed and after sorting through the questionnaires, we only have around 230 responses. We have started the process with those responses, but response or not, everyone will need a RAP sheet. Let me know if you have any questions - Thank you!! ?

Hi Thomas,

Good morning. I apologize for not replying sooner. Please accept my apologies.

I am in the process of meeting with city and county administrators and we are trying to draft a detailed information sheet with all of this pertinent information to give out this much needed information.

Mr. Scott Grooms, who is our tourism director, is in charge of the parking of the satellite trucks and such. He will be knowledgeable about asking where to park in areas designated around the courthouse. I am copying him on this email as well.

We are still finalizing some of the details and I will be glad to get back to you today to hopefully answer your questions.

Kindest regards,

The ones we received back that have no fwd address or was returned will go in a stack also. Then the ones we have excused for whatever reason, we need to put those in a stack and write on it why we excused them.

I can't help with it today but I can help on next Tuesday. I will be out on Monday to go to the funeral of Judge Newman's son in columbia.

So my thought was that the head of security will need to keep a log of each of the bailiff's hours and if it exceeds the 86 hours we will need to report that. Is there anything else we need to do or is there a certain form that we should use to keep track of those hours?

Hi Victoria,

Thank you for reaching out. I will refer you to our website at www.colletoncounty.org and click on the Clerk of Court. We are trying to update the information under the Murdaugh Trial as quick as we have information that is pertinent.

A quick overview though is you will need your Media ID badge to enter courthouse and wear at all times. The court security will also give you another badge that will change colors daily. We are not allowing any food or drink into the courthouse. There will be water and snacks available to purchase once you are inside. We are not allowing electronic technology of any kind by the public or the media; just a notepad and pen, per the Order of the judge.

We will open the courthouse daily at 8:00 am. It is on a first come, first serve basis. There is a media central center over at the Wildlife Center across the street from the courthouse which will specifically house media, journalists, etc. Food trucks will be in the parking lot next to the Wildlife Center daily. Court TV will be the main TV plug for all other outlets.

Please feel free to message or call anytime if you have any other questions. Please refer to our website for any updates as well.

Sincerely,
Rebecca "Becky" H. Hill

Hi Ladies,

Thinking forward to our week of CP court with Judge Goldsmith in Colleton, we may still be in trial with Judge Newman for the Murdaugh trial. (Which I believe we will be; unless there is some knowledge that I'm not aware of lol)

Do I need to talk with Court Administration, Tiffany Raines, Karama, about this?

We need to send out jury summons next week if we are going to summon jurors for that week of CP.

Happy New Year!!!

If you would send the Media form back to me and mAtwood, that would be great.
The Media Center will have a live feed to plug into.
Security will provide our own Court -issued badge, but we will still need for Medial to wear their own identifying lanyard or badge.
Hope this helps!!

Hey, Becky!!
We're hunkering down on plans and I was wondering if you could share who is running point for the other networks?
CourtTV is the pool, but we all have to figure out how to man our efforts to get the material from them.
Sometimes we set up a pool within the pool to share costs and I wanted to get that discussion going with NBC, CBS and Fox.
Do you have names, or would Mike Atwood be a better resource? I know he wasn't in today.

Thanks! And hope to see you again soon!

Hi Julie Kate,

I need to ask if there is any way possible for us to hold court for only one day, Tuesday, next week. Court Administration and I.T. are coming in on Monday, MLK holiday, and then needs to come in Wed and Thursday to finish setting up the courtroom with new technology, i.e. monitors for state and defense table, witness stand, judge, clerk's table, audio, wires, cords, audio system, etc. I know we have Grand Jury selection Tuesday morning, and if I could suggest having as much or as many pleas, motions and hearings the rest of Tuesday and then finish for this term. Also, Court TV is hoping to come in on Thursday afternoon and all day Friday. After that, everything will be on go for Murdaugh.

Please let me know if you think there will any kind of problem with this. If I need to talk to anyone else about this, I will be glad to do so.

I will be in the office tomorrow if you need to talk.

Have a good night and thank you for any consideration you can give.

Hi Julie Kate,

I need to ask if there is any way possible for us to hold court for only one day, Tuesday, next week. Court Administration and I.T. are coming in on Monday, MLK holiday, and then needs to come in Wed and Thursday to finish setting up the courtroom with new technology, i.e. monitors for state and defense table, witness stand, judge, clerk's table, audio, wires, cords, audio system, etc. I know we have Grand Jury selection Tuesday morning, and if I could suggest having as much or as many pleas, motions and hearings the rest of Tuesday and then finish for this term. Also, Court TV is hoping to come in on Thursday afternoon and all day Friday. After that, everything will be on go for Murdaugh.

Please let me know if you think there will any kind of problem with this. If I need to talk to anyone else about this, I will be glad to do so.

I will be in the office tomorrow if you need to talk.

Have a good night and thank you for any consideration you can give.

Where are yall staying? I have some great rentals located on our clerk of court website.

Sincerely,

Would be a great pleasure and also interesting for me to understand how this trial is affecting life in Hampton County.

Hello Rebecca,

Enchanté et merci infiniment pour votre aide !

I would definitely be eager to discuss the case with you, and indeed I may have a few questions about my stay in Walterboro - to be very honest, this is the first time I'm covering such a trial in the U.S. so your advice would be extremely precious. Would you have a bit of time in the coming weeks to talk about it on the phone or on zoom, whatever is more convenient for you ?

Before I print, fill and sign the form properly, I quickly filled it on Google doc, could you please tell me if I need to put extra informations - just want to be sure I'm not writing any mistake ? The photo camera is not essential, if this is a problem, I could simply use my laptop and a notepad.

Thank you very much for your help, and looking forward to hearing from you.

Best wishes,

Arthur

Bonjour!

I took French in high school and college, but rarely use it anymore; I don't want to appear deceitful because my use of this language that I love is so very limited.

So good to hear from you. I've attached the form that you will just need to fill out and email back to me. The courtroom holds 234 people, and the trial attendance will be on a first come, first serve basis.

If you plan to stay in Walterboro, I can recommend some places to stay.

I think your book idea is great. Now is the time. I am also interested in writing a book. I have lived among the Murdaughs and worked with them and am kind of the "feet on the ground" so to speak. If you're interested in a partnership, let me know!

I would therefore need to be at the trial next January. Do you think you could guide me in the process to get an accreditation for the trial ?

Thanks for having taken the time to read me, I'm looking forward to hearing from you and please let me know if you need further information about the book we want to publish about the case.

Hello All,

Happy New Year! I wanted to reach out with a quick update on where we are at on our end and see when you would like to meet regarding the plan. I will be working with our team tomorrow (Thursday) on our schedule for build and testing so Friday may be a good day to meet as I will have more information for you then. Our design team has pulled together the resources and stock for a portable RealTime kit with a backup to record FTR Gold as well as an integrated evidence presentation solution to meet your needs for this trial.

- I am recommending we also attempt to set up a 30-day temporary copy of FTR Gold on to work with the existing PA system as the county noted that they are not currently recording and would like to. I'm not sure if this will work, since I do not know who set up that system and if any of it is proprietary, but I thought it may be worth offering and then we can try some other recordings in advance of the trial and see how the sound levels in the room record while we wait on the kit to arrive. Eric/Becki-is there a laptop or PC that is connected to that system that we could try installing that on? We can work with you on the install and testing of the temporary license.
- I will pull together a quote for the county for keeping the evidence presentation hardware after the trial is over as discussed with Eric/Becki.
- Eric, I am going to send you a small piece of the Velcro we would use for cable management to see if it will work on the carpet in the courtroom. Can I send it directly to your attention at the courthouse via UPS or FedEx?
- Do we know if the judge will allow the RealTime to be sold to the public yet? (this is our hope to make the RealTime part cost neutral to us)
  - I have gotten permission from the Ninth Judicial District in Florida to demo their live RealTime set up with you so you can see it live and in action. I can demo this at any time for Judge Newman and team.
  - Once the Judge approves, I can also arrange for an education session with the other court staff and we can also show it to the prosecution and defense attorneys to see if they would like to purchase the RealTime feed to aid in their workflow.

I have a few other moving parts we are working on in the background, but wanted to reach out to re-ignite our conversation now that we are through the holidays. Please let me know if have any questions and when a good time to bring the group back together for a quick project meeting is.

I just got word we have the small ones in stock and I can put together a quote on those for you and call you Monday morning since you want to keep those. We did get our hands on privacy screens for the displays on the counsel table as well. You would need to source the large one and the stand, it just needs to have an HDMI input which is pretty standard.

The availability is good. We were going to have a trial, but it has turned into a plea. I believe we could do pleas on Tuesday. How many days do you need for install?

Sorry, I thought I answered this over the weekend. We have them in stock if you want to purchase through us. You'd just need to get the big one. I will email to check our stock on those. Our procurement specialist is on pacific time so he will be in the office between 11-12 eastern tomorrow.

Hey, Becky!!
We're hunkering down on plans and I was wondering if you could share who is running point for the other networks?
CourtTV is the pool, but we all have to figure out how to man our efforts to get the material from them.
Sometimes we set up a pool within the pool to share costs and I wanted to get that discussion going with NBC, CBS and Fox.
Do you have names, or would Mike Atwood be a better resource? I know he wasn't in today.

Thanks! And hope to see you again soon!

Hi Julie Kate,

I need to ask if there is any way possible for us to hold court for only one day, Tuesday, next week. Court Administration and I.T. are coming in on Monday, MLK holiday, and then needs to come in Wed and Thursday to finish setting up the courtroom with new technology, i.e. monitors for state and defense table, witness stand, judge, clerk's table, audio, wires, cords, audio system, etc. I know we have Grand Jury selection Tuesday morning, and if I could suggest having as much or as many pleas, motions and hearings the rest of Tuesday and then finish for this term. Also, Court TV is hoping to come in on Thursday afternoon and all day Friday. After that, everything will be on go for Murdaugh.

Please let me know if you think there will any kind of problem with this. If I need to talk to anyone else about this, I will be glad to do so.

I will be in the office tomorrow if you need to talk.

Have a good night and thank you for any consideration you can give.

Hello Rebecca,

Enchanté et merci infiniment pour votre aide !

I would definitely be eager to discuss the case with you, and indeed I may have a few questions about my stay in Walterboro - to be very honest, this is the first time I'm covering such a trial in the U.S. so your advice would be extremely precious. Would you have a bit of time in the coming weeks to talk about it on the phone or on zoom, whatever is more convenient for you ?

Before I print, fill and sign the form properly, I quickly filled it on Google doc, could you please tell me if I need to put extra informations - just want to be sure I'm not writing any mistake ? The photo camera is not essential, if this is a problem, I could simply use my laptop and a notepad.

Thank you very much for your help, and looking forward to hearing from you.

Best wishes,

Arthur

Bonjour!

I took French in high school and college, but rarely use it anymore; I don't want to appear deceitful because my use of this language that I love is so very limited.

So good to hear from you. I've attached the form that you will just need to fill out and email back to me. The courtroom holds 234 people, and the trial attendance will be on a first come, first serve basis.

If you plan to stay in Walterboro, I can recommend some places to stay.

I think your book idea is great. Now is the time. I am also interested in writing a book. I have lived among the Murdaughs and worked with them and am kind of the "feet on the ground" so to speak. If you're interested in a partnership, let me know!

Hello,

My name is Arthur Cerf, I'm an independent writer for the French edition of Vanity Fair and other Paris-based publications. I'm contacting you today because I'm currently starting working on a book about the Murdaugh case - along with a French publishing house called 10/18. I would therefore need to be at the trial next January. Do you think you could guide me in the process to get an accreditation for the trial ?

Thanks for having taken the time to read me, I'm looking forward to hearing from you and please let me know if you need further information about the book we want to publish about the case.

Best wishes,

Hey Sherrie,

I have a quick question if you happen to check your emails. Do you know if my County I. T. Dept. is supposed to be ordering all of the monitors or is your team going to be able to get them?

Like I said, quick question, and I just can't remember.

Thanks, and talk to you tomorrow.

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

I was thinking since Judge Newman intends to hear motions this afternoon, and the public is not likely to be breaking down the doors to get in, we could let reporters who haven't yet been able to get inside come in for the motions. We would seat those with reserved seats first, and then allow the others to come in. If that is acceptable to you we could let Tiffany send out a notice on her email list, and I can pass the word as we're letting reporters in this morning. I will insist that those coming in read the court's order and rule 605. I'm heading your way now.

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

Hello gentlemen,

Would it be possible if I could meet with you at 12:30 today privately before we meet at 1:00 with the whole team? I'd like to nail down parking for the public/jury for next week. Judge Newman does NOT want to hold anything over at the CCC. My jurors coming are already nervous as it is, and they won't be able to park "close" to the courthouse. I want to be able suggest the parking areas to them and be on the same page as LEO. First Baptist Church parking lot, City parking lot, Ulmer Carolina lot?? and Wysong parking lot?

Also Judge Newman has not given direction for sequestration or where he is staying. I talked to his law clerk this morning and we are going to try and find out answers as soon as we can. Makes coordinating and planning a little harder, but we will do fine.

I have the defense team coming in at 1015 to meet me in the courtroom and get a lay of the land. They are asking for an office downstairs also, which I'm currently planning it all out. Would like y'all to know the layout of everything on the inside of the courthouse.

Thanks!

Hi Carol,

Thanks for reaching out. It's a tough situation for sure. I knew a little of the Murdaugh family from my time as a court reporter and thought very much of them all -- in our capacity of court and anything dealing with that. It's such a sad situation for the legacy of the Murdaugh Dynasty. Tomorrow will be a beast of a day.....some might would even say Epic.

Did you hear from the judge regarding jury selection? Are we permitted to broadcast and stream?

Second, is the judge okay with us getting a copy of the witness list?

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

I am the co-host of the podcast, Murdaugh Family Murders, Impact of Influence. I plan on attending the upcoming trial as much as possible and had a few questions.

1. On the website it says that media registration was required but the form seems to apply to electronic and photographic coverage. I do not intend to record or take photos. Should I still complete this form?

2. Am I able to have my phone or a laptop for work purposes that don't include taking photos or recording?

3. Do you have details on how to apply of the lottery seats?

4. Is the Wildlife Center available to everyone or just press?

Thank you for any help assistance you can give me with these questions.

Sincerely,

Seton Tucker

I have added a lottery seating provision for news organizations that do not have daily reserved seats. I have indicated a seat for WTAT-TV from Charleston although I find little coverage by them of the case. I will check with the news director. One of the pool still photographers called to my attention that establishment of camera positions will be crucial to provide adequate sight lines. I understand that if one is shooting from the back of the courtroom the witness stand is obscured by the clerk's desk. Remote cameras may provide a solution.

* Food Trucks that are coming.
* Parking layout for downtown area public, media, Courthouse staff, Harrelson and Administrative Building staff
* Courthouse Entrance and Exit layout
* Anything else we need to discuss

The courthouse will open at 7:45 each day. In order to enter the courthouse, all individuals must present valid photo identification, such as driver's license or passport. The Clerk of Court's office is also issuing daily color-coded badges that will be crimped with the Clerk's Seal to anyone entering the courthouse (LEO not included)

Members of the media must register and received court-issued credentials in order to bring electronic equipment into the courthouse, to gain admission to the media room (which will be at the Wboro Wildlife Center and possibly at the Da Vinci Depot: Creative Fluid Space (next to AHAB on Main Street) or to conduct interviews in a court-approved area outside the courthouse.

No cameras or video or audio recording devices of any kind, including cell phones or multi=media enabled smart phones, smart watches, laptops, tablets, video cameras or any devices with similar functionality are permitted in the courthouse at any time.

No person shall take any photograph, make any recording , or make any broadcast by any means, at any time within the Colleton County Courthouse.

Persons seated in the courtroom at the beginning of the day will be given a courtroom admission badge on a lanyard to gain re-entry into the courtroom.

IF we do have an overflow seating room area, we will use the Family Court Courtroom when we do not have any Family Court scheduled.

A court security officer or other LEO will be present at all times in the overflow room.

The Wboro Wildlife Center and the Da Vinci Depot will be available for media while Court is in session to provide live audio and video feeds.

Judge Newman has just issued an Order concerning potential jurors. The names of jurors shall not be revealed to the public or the media in any fashion during the course of these proceedings. We will refer to the jurors by number only.

To assist with overall security and general public access to the courthouse, the Court has designated the front lawn of the courthouse and all grassy areas surrounding the courthouse will be for media use to hold press conferences interviews, still pics, and film coverage.

For safety reasons, no individual may block and no activity may take place at any point of ingress or egress to the courthouse itself. Jason Chapman has a plan for the courthouse front entrance and gated area.

SLED, CCSO, WPD, and Court Security Officers shall be responsible for maintaining order and decorum in the courthouse and surrounding grounds, including the Wboro Wildlife Center and Food Truck area.

Sorry this is so long, but it's good info we all need to know and can pass along.

I hope that you will be able to attend our meetings. If you cannot, as things come up or have already been scheduled prior, please make sure someone comes in your place.

Look forward to seeing you soon. Stay safe and healthy. Happy New Year.

> Court Tv is a good choice for the pool camera because they have good equipment and experience. However, unlike any previous case (Amber Heard comes to mind) we’ve had with them, Grace Wong at Court TV is saying that they will NOT give the pool access to all three cameras they are setting up in court…. just the switched feed. In our opinion a pool operator is required to give all material to those not allow the same access. Secondly their switched feed comes to us in a “edited” form by virtue of what shots they choose to include or exclude for their live broadcast. TThirdly, Ms. Wong says if we want those raw camera feeds, we must “license” them after the trial, i.e., pay for the footage. The court is not in the business of setting up a for profit situation for the pool operator. We all understand we must bear the cost of getting the material from Court TV’s feed point and our intake. This is one of the most significant trials in a decade. Being the pool operator will give them an economic monopoly on this footage in perpetuity.
> Rules for court room
> -The current guidelines seem to be that no laptops, or Ipads allowed in court. Problem is laptops and iPads are how we take our notes and are more efficient and accurate than pen and paper. A live feed of the trial will be broadcast the whole time so the fear of trial info getting out otherwise seems to be nil. If the rule is no live broadcast from court (except Court TV) or tweeting or posting…. fine…. make that the rule and banish offenders from coming in court for the rest of the trial after their offense. Also make it the rule that no laptop picture or video taking allowed…. only court tv allow to record court events. Tweeters and podcasters will have unlimited opportunity to engage in social media in the media center while watching that feed. Why make the in-court reporters’ job unnecessarily more difficult?
> Daily Passes
> -Again, lack of space is not our friend, BUT for better or worse, the reporters and producers covering the trial will reach far more citizens than the 60 seats I understand the court wants to devote to them (locals) a day. The color-coded badge system for each day is a good one. However, in my experience, community members come for an hour or two, get bored at the glacial speed of trials and leave, taking their day badge with them. This leaves an un-used seat for the afternoon. Perhaps if the Judge wants to set aside a certain number of seats for the community, the bailiff can assess how many empty seats are left after lunch each day and allocate those to people who couldn’t get in the morning session.
> In a perfect universe, newspapers, long form TV, and other reporters who want and need to sit thru the entire trial would be given a seat each day, and others who want to come in an out would do the first come first serve thing. Affiliate tv/radio stations or spot news network reporters can’t stay in the courtroom all day anyway because they are live constantly thru the day, so the number of all-day reporters is likely not that high.
> Lastly, love Scotts idea to put instant messages out via text to media. This means everyone gets the same info at the same time. It could be info on available trial seats, filing notices, parking updates, court schedule updates like, adjourn for day or lunch or break whatever.

Hello gentlemen,

Would it be possible if I could meet with you at 12:30 today privately before we meet at 1:00 with the whole team? I'd like to nail down parking for the public/jury for next week. Judge Newman does NOT want to hold anything over at the CCC. My jurors coming are already nervous as it is, and they won't be able to park "close" to the courthouse. I want to be able suggest the parking areas to them and be on the same page as LEO. First Baptist Church parking lot, City parking lot, Ulmer Carolina lot?? and Wysong parking lot?

Also Judge Newman has not given direction for sequestration or where he is staying. I talked to his law clerk this morning and we are going to try and find out answers as soon as we can. Makes coordinating and planning a little harder, but we will do fine.

I have the defense team coming in at 1015 to meet me in the courtroom and get a lay of the land. They are asking for an office downstairs also, which I'm currently planning it all out. Would like y'all to know the layout of everything on the inside of the courthouse.

Thanks!

1. On the website it says that media registration was required but the form seems to apply to electronic and photographic coverage. I do not intend to record or take photos. Should I still complete this form?

2. Am I able to have my phone or a laptop for work purposes that don't include taking photos or recording?

3. Do you have details on how to apply of the lottery seats?

4. Is the Wildlife Center available to everyone or just press?

Thank you for any help assistance you can give me with these questions.

Good Afternoon,

Attached is a Notice regarding the drawing of potential jurors for the State Grand Jury. Based on the State Grand Jury Act, Clerks of Court are required to post a notice ten (10) days prior to drawing the jurors. According to our records, you will draw 23 jurors. I would ask that you complete your jury draw by January 18, 2023. Once the jury list is complete, please forward a copy of the list to me either by email or U.S. mail at my address below before January 25, 2023. If you can email the list to me, please do not also send by U.S. mail. Please note that these jurors will not serve on a trial panel, but will go into a pool for our State Grand Jury selection to take place this year.

I will find out the break time in the afternoons by tomorrow and let you know. Paul os a bailiff with the courthouse and is pretty knowledgeable about sound systems and such.

Hi Rebecca,

Just following up on a voicemail request for filings in the Richard Alex Murdaugh murder trial. Would it be possible to obtain the last week of filings and court orders (beginning Jan. 16th) and to receive all of forthcoming filings from the defense, and prosecution, as well as any orders handed down by the judge?

We can pay if necessary. Thank you so much!

Those are food questions. For the first one, we can move the containers...although they try to discourage smoking on the courthouse g rounds.
2. Parking is going to be a nightmare. Don't have answers.
3. I am going to park behind the car wash like I talked about before but nobody wanted to. McLeod has given us permission. Turn on the one way Walter Street and park on McLeod property. I think that's the best way to go.

2. Am I able to have my phone or a laptop for work purposes that don't include taking photos or recording?

4. Is the Wildlife Center available to everyone or just press?

Thank you for any help assistance you can give me with these questions.

Hi Oriana,

The County/State has still been on holiday and are to return tomorrow, Wednesday, to the office. And I just got back into town myself; thus just getting back to emails, so I'm not ignoring your emails or calls!

I believe something did come in over the weekend, but I won't know or have access to it until in the morning. I will make sure we send it out once we get in.

Talk to you tomorrow!

I would greatly appreciate an email copy of the filing if possible for our reporting.

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

Good morning,

I am reaching out to request the attached filed documents.

Also is it possible to get a copy of the questionnaire that was sent out to prospective jurors and any filings from the defense and/or prosecution that may contain proposed witness lists?

As of this writing, the shared CNN email address that will hit all of us is still being created ?. Please reply-all to the people on this email chain with response.

Thank you for all the help so far. Have a great day!

Hi Nick,

Hope to meet you. We summoned 900. We are down to 122. Willpick a Jury Wednesday at 11 am.

Normal draw for a criminal jury is 250 and we usually have approximately 65 or 70 appear.

Take care!

David,

Thank you for your email. I will try to answer your questions in order.

I don't yet know where the video feed will be made available. My impression is that it will be available in the overflow center, but I will confirm with Court TV.
The notion behind reserved seating was to provide seating without a scrimmage for a seat. If your reporter is not in attendance on one day I don't anticipate that forfeiting the seat. On the other hand, an absence of several days will increase the pressure from those without reserved seating to have the seat.
Arrive far enough in advance of the announced start time for a day's proceedings to clear security and get in your seat before court commences activity.
In 2000 the Supreme Court of South Carolina issued an order that noted while pagers, cell phones and other personal communications devices may be seen as enhancing communication, "they are also increasingly seen as a distraction and as having no place in certain venues." Cell phones may be brought into the courtroom so long as they are turned off. Cell phones, laptops and other devices may not be used to text or transmit from the courtroom because of the potential distraction. Given the number of reporters covering the trial and the number of public attendees, texting is an almost guaranteed distraction. As I read the Supreme Court order the presiding judge may permit cellphones to be powered and silenced while in the courtroom, but the language of the order does not grant the judge the authority to permit the use of cellphones in the courtroom. If you want to text contemporaneous coverage you are free to do so from the overflow center. I encourage the use of the overflow center as Becky Hill has exerted a great deal of time and resources to provide a room with video and audio feeds, tables, chairs, electrical outlets, restrooms, and coffee.
Aside form any perceived "aura" associated with having been in the courtroom, the opportunity to provide coverage is enhanced in the overflow center. Besides, in the center one can get up during the proceedings and walk around. That will not be possible in the courtroom.

Jay

Subject: Media Q's for Murdaugh Trial

Hi Becky and Jay,

Thank you for your service to South Carolina during the Murdaugh trial starting next week.

We have a few easy questions we are hoping for clarity on:

1) How will our on-site cinemetographer be able to plug into the Live Court TV video feed. Will this be through the Media overflow room at the wildlife center, from the Court TV van, from the courtroom junction box or elsewhere? We want to ensure that we are able to broadcast the Live feed along with other media outlets.

2) The order mentioned a reserved seat for Luna Shark (thank you!) and that the seat is given up if we are not there to use it. Is this on a daily basis, or will that seat be permanently given away if we are unable to attend for one day?

3) what time should we arrive so that our seat is not given away

4) can you clarify that we as media can have phones in the courtroom and the status of live tweeting/messaging? We understand that photos and noise are prohibited.

Thanks!

Best regards &

Ms. Williams,

Please find the excusal matrix prepared that incorporates both the State and defense positions so far. If there is a "Y" in the far right category, it indicates jurors that both sides agree excusal is warranted. Some of those are marked with "Suggest Clerk Inquiry" where we both believe it would be advisable for the Clerk to verify, for example, medical issues, student status, elderly age exemptions, etc, before making the potential juror come to court. As to those with disqualifying rap sheets, they are marked and Mr. Griffin and I are working to give the defense a chance to review those to verify they agree there is a disqualifying conviction. We are continuing to receive raps from SLED so it is likely additional ones will be identified. We are however ready to have a status conference on the issue with Judge Newman later in the week.

Ms. Williams,

As an update, both parties have been working diligently on going through for possible disqualifications, exemptions, and agreements at to excusal for cause. I sent last night for review by the defense an updated matrix we created synching the State's and defense's positions on one document, and just got off the phone with Mr. Griffin discussing the matter. We should have it to you by this afternoon, as well as a streamlined specific jury questionnaire for jurors upon arrival for service next week.

Creighton Waters

Good morning all,

To Mr. Griffin's reply, waiting until next week is fine to do.

To Mr. Water's reply, Judge Newman's Order does not seek to limit each parties internal use of jury information. The goal is to protect juror information from becoming public.

I look forward to hearing from you all on next week.

Thank you,

Gabrielle Williams
Law Clerk to the Honorable Clifton Newman

That is correct.

Additionally, the Order Judge Newman signed regarding the confidentiality of juror identities allows the parties internal use for case preparation. I just wanted to be sure that included any paid or non-paid non-law enforcement consultants or individuals the State would like to have review the juror list to assist the State in preparation. Any such persons will sign a NDA and be advised of their obligations under the order.

Ms. Williams

I just spoke with Creighton Waters about the below request. We are still receiving questionnaires from the Clerk's office and SLED is also in the process of running rap sheets on all of the jurors. We expect to be able to provide the you with a list of jurors who we agree should be removed based on responses to the questionnaires and prior criminal convictions. However, we both would like the weekend to complete our review of the jury information and provide you an update on our progress Monday.

Thank you.

Good evening,

I am reaching out to schedule Webex meetings to discuss jury summons. Judge Newman indicated that parties should confer to come to an agreement on which jurors to keep in the jury pool and which to remove.

During these meetings, we will go through the batches sent from the Clerk's office. Parties can indicate which jurors they agree on and disagree on. For any disagreement, we can discuss the reasoning and I can inform Judge Newman.

Please let me know your availability for this coming Friday and the coming week.

Best,

Gabrielle Williams

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

I'm so glad you are having fun. That's what we have to remember to do. I'm also thankful to be able to send these emails of reporters to you. (Big grin!)

So, please tell me, for jury selection, is Court TV able to turn their cameras on during that; while observing the fact that no jurors faces, names, etc can be shown?

Good afternoon. Jay,

Hope you have had a good day. I'm sending you this email I received from Channel 2 news and would like your thoughts on it. I really would like for the judge to rescind his decision about the telephones....if you could think about this. Please let me know your thoughts .

Hi Cindy!

I have a few questions regarding media coverage of the Murdaugh trial. I'm not sure if you're the right person to ask, but you've been so helpful in the past I figured you would at least be able to point me in the right direction.

On the media coverage sheet we received yesterday, it said reporters could have cell phones in the court room as long as they were off or in silent mode. To clarify, does this mean no texting is allowed? Or can reporters text/email as long as they don't ring and disrupt proceedings?

Additionally, do you know if reporters will be required to stay in the courtroom throughout the trial? We are trying to coordinate our live coverage and determine whether we need to send two teams.

Thank you!

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

Good morning Mrs. Hill,

I'm reaching out to check on the status of WLTX News19's request to have a camera in the courtroom for the Alex Murdaugh trial.

I sent the original request to Judge Newman's office via fax and email on Jan. 3, 2023, and I am attaching a copy of that request on this email.

Some questions from our news team:

- Will be allowed to set up a camera and microphone, and if so, where?
- Will there be a media pool feed, and who is providing it?
- If so, will it be a switched feed (multiple cameras that go back and forth between lawyers, witnesses, and exhibits) or will it be one camera trained on one spot (presumably the person testifying)?
- And if there is a pool feed, what will we need to plug into the setup?
- And finally, where will are crews who are going need to park?

Thanks for your assistance in this matter,

Hi Carol,

Thanks for reaching out. It's a tough situation for sure. I knew a little of the Murdaugh family from my time as a court reporter and thought very much of them all -- in our capacity of court and anything dealing with that. It's such a sad situation for the legacy of the Murdaugh Dynasty. Tomorrow will be a beast of a day.....some might would even say Epic.

Best,

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

I was thinking since Judge Newman intends to hear motions this afternoon, and the public is not likely to be breaking down the doors to get in, we could let reporters who haven't yet been able to get inside come in for the motions. We would seat those with reserved seats first, and then allow the others to come in. If that is acceptable to you we could let Tiffany send out a notice on her email list, and I can pass the word as we're letting reporters in this morning. I will insist that those coming in read the court's order and rule 605. I'm heading your way now.

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

David, the short answer is yes. Typically we send out 250 juror summons . And we see about 75 to 85 show up to court and that's on the high end.

Hi Becky!

Quick question. We want to verify how many jurors were called up to serve for Alex Murdaugh's trial and how many went through the qualification process.

Would you be able to provide those numbers? From what we understand there were about 900 called and about 300 on the panels. Would that mean only 30 percent showed up for duty? If so, is that a typical yield?

Thank you!!!

Did you hear from the judge regarding jury selection? Are we permitted to broadcast and stream?

Second, is the judge okay with us getting a copy of the witness list?

Hello gentlemen,

Would it be possible if I could meet with you at 12:30 today privately before we meet at 1:00 with the whole team? I'd like to nail down parking for the public/jury for next week. Judge Newman does NOT want to hold anything over at the CCC. My jurors coming are already nervous as it is, and they won't be able to park "close" to the courthouse. I want to be able suggest the parking areas to them and be on the same page as LEO. First Baptist Church parking lot, City parking lot, Ulmer Carolina lot?? and Wysong parking lot?

Also Judge Newman has not given direction for sequestration or where he is staying. I talked to his law clerk this morning and we are going to try and find out answers as soon as we can. Makes coordinating and planning a little harder, but we will do fine.

I have the defense team coming in at 1015 to meet me in the courtroom and get a lay of the land. They are asking for an office downstairs also, which I'm currently planning it all out. Would like y'all to know the layout of everything on the inside of the courthouse.

Thanks!

Ms. Hill:

Good Morning. I hope this email finds you being able to breath through what I know can be the craziness of a big trial.

I wanted to touch base because I know there has been some rumble of members of the public not being able to get in to observe the trial. I would like to come and observe the trial on Friday, if possible. What would I need to do to be able to get a seat inside?

I look forward to hearing from you.

Hi Carol,

Thanks for reaching out. It's a tough situation for sure. I knew a little of the Murdaugh family from my time as a court reporter and thought very much of them all -- in our capacity of court and anything dealing with that. It's such a sad situation for the legacy of the Murdaugh Dynasty. Tomorrow will be a beast of a day.....some might would even say Epic.

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

Good afternoon, this is Iain Burchell on behalf of The Mega Agency, a news and picture agency syndicating content to major media outlets around the world.
I hope you can help, or point me in the right direction of a suitable media/press contact there.
I've seen this report about photos from a forensic report submitted by Alex Murdaugh's legal team https://nypost.com/2023/01/20/murdaugh-murders-forensic-report-reveals-gruesome-details-about-paul-maggie/ with the images credited to Colleton County Court.
I'm checking to see if these images are available to the media, and if Mega can get them to syndicate and license to media outlets.
I appreciate it must be quite hectic at the courthouse this week, but I'd be grateful if somebody could let me know.
Regards, Iain

I have added a lottery seating provision for news organizations that do not have daily reserved seats. I have indicated a seat for WTAT-TV from Charleston although I find little coverage by them of the case. I will check with the news director. One of the pool still photographers called to my attention that establishment of camera positions will be crucial to provide adequate sight lines. I understand that if one is shooting from the back of the courtroom the witness stand is obscured by the clerk's desk. Remote cameras may provide a solution.

* Food Trucks that are coming.
* Parking layout for downtown area public, media, Courthouse staff, Harrelson and Administrative Building staff
* Courthouse Entrance and Exit layout
* Anything else we need to discuss

The courthouse will open at 7:45 each day. In order to enter the courthouse, all individuals must present valid photo identification, such as driver's license or passport. The Clerk of Court's office is also issuing daily color-coded badges that will be crimped with the Clerk's Seal to anyone entering the courthouse (LEO not included)

Members of the media must register and received court-issued credentials in order to bring electronic equipment into the courthouse, to gain admission to the media room (which will be at the Wboro Wildlife Center and possibly at the Da Vinci Depot: Creative Fluid Space (next to AHAB on Main Street) or to conduct interviews in a court-approved area outside the courthouse.

No cameras or video or audio recording devices of any kind, including cell phones or multi=media enabled smart phones, smart watches, laptops, tablets, video cameras or any devices with similar functionality are permitted in the courthouse at any time.

No person shall take any photograph, make any recording , or make any broadcast by any means, at any time within the Colleton County Courthouse.

Persons seated in the courtroom at the beginning of the day will be given a courtroom admission badge on a lanyard to gain re-entry into the courtroom.

IF we do have an overflow seating room area, we will use the Family Court Courtroom when we do not have any Family Court scheduled.

A court security officer or other LEO will be present at all times in the overflow room.

The Wboro Wildlife Center and the Da Vinci Depot will be available for media while Court is in session to provide live audio and video feeds.

Judge Newman has just issued an Order concerning potential jurors. The names of jurors shall not be revealed to the public or the media in any fashion during the course of these proceedings. We will refer to the jurors by number only.

To assist with overall security and general public access to the courthouse, the Court has designated the front lawn of the courthouse and all grassy areas surrounding the courthouse will be for media use to hold press conferences interviews, still pics, and film coverage.

For safety reasons, no individual may block and no activity may take place at any point of ingress or egress to the courthouse itself. Jason Chapman has a plan for the courthouse front entrance and gated area.

SLED, CCSO, WPD, and Court Security Officers shall be responsible for maintaining order and decorum in the courthouse and surrounding grounds, including the Wboro Wildlife Center and Food Truck area.

Sorry this is so long, but it's good info we all need to know and can pass along.

I hope that you will be able to attend our meetings. If you cannot, as things come up or have already been scheduled prior, please make sure someone comes in your place.

Look forward to seeing you soon. Stay safe and healthy. Happy New Year.

Hi, Court TV will rease all the pool video and photos this afternoon after trial is over and will do this daily. They will provide a link for all media to access. You only have 2 hours to access and then the link will be taken down.

Good afternoon Ms. Hill,

My name is Ted Clifford, I'm a reporter with The State newspaper. I was just hoping to get a little bit of information about the jury selection process for the upcoming Murdaugh murder trial.

Would you be able to confirm how many jury questionnaires went out and how many have been returned?

Thanks so much!

Best,
Ted Clifford

> Court Tv is a good choice for the pool camera because they have good equipment and experience. However, unlike any previous case (Amber Heard comes to mind) we’ve had with them, Grace Wong at Court TV is saying that they will NOT give the pool access to all three cameras they are setting up in court…. just the switched feed. In our opinion a pool operator is required to give all material to those not allow the same access. Secondly their switched feed comes to us in a “edited” form by virtue of what shots they choose to include or exclude for their live broadcast. TThirdly, Ms. Wong says if we want those raw camera feeds, we must “license” them after the trial, i.e., pay for the footage. The court is not in the business of setting up a for profit situation for the pool operator. We all understand we must bear the cost of getting the material from Court TV’s feed point and our intake. This is one of the most significant trials in a decade. Being the pool operator will give them an economic monopoly on this footage in perpetuity.
> -The current guidelines seem to be that no laptops, or Ipads allowed in court. Problem is laptops and iPads are how we take our notes and are more efficient and accurate than pen and paper. A live feed of the trial will be broadcast the whole time so the fear of trial info getting out otherwise seems to be nil. If the rule is no live broadcast from court (except Court TV) or tweeting or posting…. fine…. make that the rule and banish offenders from coming in court for the rest of the trial after their offense. Also make it the rule that no laptop picture or video taking allowed…. only court tv allow to record court events. Tweeters and podcasters will have unlimited opportunity to engage in social media in the media center while watching that feed. Why make the in-court reporters’ job unnecessarily more difficult?
> -Again, lack of space is not our friend, BUT for better or worse, the reporters and producers covering the trial will reach far more citizens than the 60 seats I understand the court wants to devote to them (locals) a day. The color-coded badge system for each day is a good one. However, in my experience, community members come for an hour or two, get bored at the glacial speed of trials and leave, taking their day badge with them. This leaves an un-used seat for the afternoon. Perhaps if the Judge wants to set aside a certain number of seats for the community, the bailiff can assess how many empty seats are left after lunch each day and allocate those to people who couldn’t get in the morning session.
> In a perfect universe, newspapers, long form TV, and other reporters who want and need to sit thru the entire trial would be given a seat each day, and others who want to come in an out would do the first come first serve thing. Affiliate tv/radio stations or spot news network reporters can’t stay in the courtroom all day anyway because they are live constantly thru the day, so the number of all-day reporters is likely not that high.
> Lastly, love Scotts idea to put instant messages out via text to media. This means everyone gets the same info at the same time. It could be info on available trial seats, filing notices, parking updates, court schedule updates like, adjourn for day or lunch or break whatever.

Hello gentlemen,

Would it be possible if I could meet with you at 12:30 today privately before we meet at 1:00 with the whole team? I'd like to nail down parking for the public/jury for next week. Judge Newman does NOT want to hold anything over at the CCC. My jurors coming are already nervous as it is, and they won't be able to park "close" to the courthouse. I want to be able suggest the parking areas to them and be on the same page as LEO. First Baptist Church parking lot, City parking lot, Ulmer Carolina lot?? and Wysong parking lot?

Also Judge Newman has not given direction for sequestration or where he is staying. I talked to his law clerk this morning and we are going to try and find out answers as soon as we can. Makes coordinating and planning a little harder, but we will do fine.

I have the defense team coming in at 1015 to meet me in the courtroom and get a lay of the land. They are asking for an office downstairs also, which I'm currently planning it all out. Would like y'all to know the layout of everything on the inside of the courthouse.

Thanks!

Holli,

I've seen where attorneys will use the USB and then provide the Court with the CD of the same to go into evidence.

1. On the website it says that media registration was required but the form seems to apply to electronic and photographic coverage. I do not intend to record or take photos. Should I still complete this form?

2. Am I able to have my phone or a laptop for work purposes that don't include taking photos or recording?

3. Do you have details on how to apply of the lottery seats?

4. Is the Wildlife Center available to everyone or just press?

Thank you for any help assistance you can give me with these questions.

To: "Jeffrey Hill" <jhill@colletoncounty.org>

Can you please post the link for the transcript daily copies please?

Added attachment again for ease.

Hi-would it be possible to get this added to the Murdaugh trial page on the county website so the ability to order dailies is made public?

We do have a the link to order the daily rough drafts ready for you to post on the Colleton County Website (or anywhere else you want to post it that may be helpful to you). This will take users directly to a South Carolina landing page:

Hey Sherrie!

I will find out the break time in the afternoons by tomorrow and let you know. Also, I was talking to Jeff and we think that Paul Bennett will be the guy to better check the sound system every am at 8am. Paul os a bailiff with the courthouse and is pretty knowledgeable about sound systems and such.

Good Afternoon,

Attached is a Notice regarding the drawing of potential jurors for the State Grand Jury. Based on the State Grand Jury Act, Clerks of Court are required to post a notice ten (10) days prior to drawing the jurors. According to our records, you will draw 23 jurors. I would ask that you complete your jury draw by January 18, 2023. Once the jury list is complete, please forward a copy of the list to me either by email or U.S. mail at my address below before January 25, 2023. If you can email the list to me, please do not also send by U.S. mail. Please note that these jurors will not serve on a trial panel, but will go into a pool for our State Grand Jury selection to take place this year.

Best,

Hi Rebecca,

Just following up on a voicemail request for filings in the Richard Alex Murdaugh murder trial. Would it be possible to obtain the last week of filings and court orders (beginning Jan. 16th) and to receive all of forthcoming filings from the defense, and prosecution, as well as any orders handed down by the judge?

We can pay if necessary. Thank you so much!

Those are food questions. For the first one, we can move the containers...although they try to discourage smoking on the courthouse g rounds.
2. Parking is going to be a nightmare. Don't have answers.
3. I am going to park behind the car wash like I talked about before but nobody wanted to. McLeod has given us permission. Turn on the one way Walter Street and park on McLeod property. I think that's the best way to go.

Hello all,

Adoit will be onsite tomorrow to assist with training on evidence presentation and to optimize the audio after the adjustments were made to the podium today. I will plan to be onsite Friday to support and assist. The cloud audio and speech to text worked well today despite the challenges of the wandering attorney. But I'm sure if someone mentions to Mr. Harpoolitan that Mr. Waters sounds better on tape than he does, he may speak up a little more ?

We do have a the link to order the daily rough drafts ready for you to post on the Colleton County Website (or anywhere else you want to post it that may be helpful to you). This will take users directly to a South Carolina landing page:

Hi Oriana,

The County/State has still been on holiday and are to return tomorrow, Wednesday, to the office. And I just got back into town myself; thus just getting back to emails, so I'm not ignoring your emails or calls!

I believe something did come in over the weekend, but I won't know or have access to it until in the morning. I will make sure we send it out once we get in.

Talk to you tomorrow!

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

To: Rebecca Hill <rhill@colletoncounty.org>

Good morning,

Hope you're doing well. Please feel free to ignore my email about the jury from yesterday!

I have another question -- apologies! -- about the playing of body camera video in court today. Do you know if this body camera video will be: a) shown on the livestream b) viewable only to observers/journalists in the courtroom or c) viewable only by jurors and the parties and not shown to even the journalists/public in the courtroom?

If it is shown only in the courtroom, I'd of course want to be there, so your help would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you for all your help!

Hi Nick,

Hope to meet you. We summoned 900. We are down to 122. Willpick a Jury Wednesday at 11 am.

Normal draw for a criminal jury is 250 and we usually have approximately 65 or 70 appear.

Take care!

David,

Thank you for your email. I will try to answer your questions in order.

I don't yet know where the video feed will be made available. My impression is that it will be available in the overflow center, but I will confirm with Court TV.
The notion behind reserved seating was to provide seating without a scrimmage for a seat. If your reporter is not in attendance on one day I don't anticipate that forfeiting the seat. On the other hand, an absence of several days will increase the pressure from those without reserved seating to have the seat.
Arrive far enough in advance of the announced start time for a day's proceedings to clear security and get in your seat before court commences activity.
In 2000 the Supreme Court of South Carolina issued an order that noted while pagers, cell phones and other personal communications devices may be seen as enhancing communication, "they are also increasingly seen as a distraction and as having no place in certain venues." Cell phones may be brought into the courtroom so long as they are turned off. Cell phones, laptops and other devices may not be used to text or transmit from the courtroom because of the potential distraction. Given the number of reporters covering the trial and the number of public attendees, texting is an almost guaranteed distraction. As I read the Supreme Court order the presiding judge may permit cellphones to be powered and silenced while in the courtroom, but the language of the order does not grant the judge the authority to permit the use of cellphones in the courtroom. If you want to text contemporaneous coverage you are free to do so from the overflow center. I encourage the use of the overflow center as Becky Hill has exerted a great deal of time and resources to provide a room with video and audio feeds, tables, chairs, electrical outlets, restrooms, and coffee.
Aside form any perceived "aura" associated with having been in the courtroom, the opportunity to provide coverage is enhanced in the overflow center. Besides, in the center one can get up during the proceedings and walk around. That will not be possible in the courtroom.

Subject: Media Q's for Murdaugh Trial

Hi Becky and Jay,

Thank you for your service to South Carolina during the Murdaugh trial starting next week.

We have a few easy questions we are hoping for clarity on:

1) How will our on-site cinemetographer be able to plug into the Live Court TV video feed. Will this be through the Media overflow room at the wildlife center, from the Court TV van, from the courtroom junction box or elsewhere? We want to ensure that we are able to broadcast the Live feed along with other media outlets.

2) The order mentioned a reserved seat for Luna Shark (thank you!) and that the seat is given up if we are not there to use it. Is this on a daily basis, or will that seat be permanently given away if we are unable to attend for one day?

3) what time should we arrive so that our seat is not given away

4) can you clarify that we as media can have phones in the courtroom and the status of live tweeting/messaging? We understand that photos and noise are prohibited.

Thanks!

Best regards &

They will just come to the courthouse entrance and into the building and through security. They will be given 2 badges to come on up to courtroom. The only things allowed in are paper, pens and digital recorders.

2. Am I able to have my phone or a laptop for work purposes that don't include taking photos or recording?

3. Do you have details on how to apply of the lottery seats?

4. Is the Wildlife Center available to everyone or just press?

Thank you for any help assistance you can give me with these questions.

These are the questionable ones SO FAR with the defense and the prosecution. More will be coming as SLED gets the rap sheets done on the other remaining jurors.

Ms. Williams,

Please find the excusal matrix prepared that incorporates both the State and defense positions so far. If there is a "Y" in the far right category, it indicates jurors that both sides agree excusal is warranted. Some of those are marked with "Suggest Clerk Inquiry" where we both believe it would be advisable for the Clerk to verify, for example, medical issues, student status, elderly age exemptions, etc, before making the potential juror come to court. As to those with disqualifying rap sheets, they are marked and Mr. Griffin and I are working to give the defense a chance to review those to verify they agree there is a disqualifying conviction. We are continuing to receive raps from SLED so it is likely additional ones will be identified. We are however ready to have a status conference on the issue with Judge Newman later in the week.

Ms. Williams,

As an update, both parties have been working diligently on going through for possible disqualifications, exemptions, and agreements at to excusal for cause. I sent last night for review by the defense an updated matrix we created synching the State's and defense's positions on one document, and just got off the phone with Mr. Griffin discussing the matter. We should have it to you by this afternoon, as well as a streamlined specific jury questionnaire for jurors upon arrival for service next week.

Good morning all,

To Mr. Griffin's reply, waiting until next week is fine to do.

To Mr. Water's reply, Judge Newman's Order does not seek to limit each parties internal use of jury information. The goal is to protect juror information from becoming public.

I look forward to hearing from you all on next week.

Thank you,

Gabrielle Williams

That is correct.

Additionally, the Order Judge Newman signed regarding the confidentiality of juror identities allows the parties internal use for case preparation. I just wanted to be sure that included any paid or non-paid non-law enforcement consultants or individuals the State would like to have review the juror list to assist the State in preparation. Any such persons will sign a NDA and be advised of their obligations under the order.

Ms. Williams

I just spoke with Creighton Waters about the below request. We are still receiving questionnaires from the Clerk's office and SLED is also in the process of running rap sheets on all of the jurors. We expect to be able to provide the you with a list of jurors who we agree should be removed based on responses to the questionnaires and prior criminal convictions. However, we both would like the weekend to complete our review of the jury information and provide you an update on our progress Monday.

Thank you.

Good evening,

I am reaching out to schedule Webex meetings to discuss jury summons. Judge Newman indicated that parties should confer to come to an agreement on which jurors to keep in the jury pool and which to remove.

During these meetings, we will go through the batches sent from the Clerk's office. Parties can indicate which jurors they agree on and disagree on. For any disagreement, we can discuss the reasoning and I can inform Judge Newman.

Please let me know your availability for this coming Friday and the coming week.

Best,

Gabrielle Williams

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

I am writing over some serious concerns that are going on in the courtroom with the Alex Murdaugh trial. Some of these concerns also show that there is privilege being shown to the defendant because of who he is.

> Why are witnesses that have been called and will be called allowed to sit in the courtroom during other's testimony before their own testimony? This was shown yesterday with all of the LE who testified, were sitting in the courtroom prior to getting on the stand, and during other officer's testimony?
> Why is the defendant being allowed to socialize with his family members in the gallery, to include Buster and a brother of Alex, his sister-in-law and Buster's girlfriend? All of whom are potential witnesses on the witness list? They should not be allowed in to that courtroom as a spectator until after they have finished their testimony. This is a great concern of appeal if convicted. This allows fractures in the integrity of testimony to develop.

I pray that Colleton County does not carry itself in the same fashion of Hampton County when it comes to the Murdaughs. Alex is just a person who happens to be the defendant in this case and should be treated as such. I pray that your justice system in Colleton county holds a higher standard than others and treat the case as any other cases. Thank you.

Hi Ms. Hill,

Hope you're doing great.

I'm writing with a request / question that I'm hoping you can help me answer: Judge Newman's order said that a range of people, including media, are barred from "disclosing the name, address, employment, and any other personal identifying information of any juror summoned in the above trial."

But some non-identifying information was, of course, divulged in open court and live-streamed across the nation. That includes information about employment, whether they know about the case, where they had heard about it, or if they have an opinion about it.

I imagine that, given that all of these things have already been disseminated widely on the livestream, on television, and on YouTube, etc., that Judge Newman's order does not cover them, but I did want to run this by you/him and request a brief clarification assuring that that's the case.

Thank you for your help. I'm at 315-730-8907 if you'd prefer to call.

Best,
Nick

Hi Cindy!

I have a few questions regarding media coverage of the Murdaugh trial. I'm not sure if you're the right person to ask, but you've been so helpful in the past I figured you would at least be able to point me in the right direction.

On the media coverage sheet we received yesterday, it said reporters could have cell phones in the court room as long as they were off or in silent mode. To clarify, does this mean no texting is allowed? Or can reporters text/email as long as they don't ring and disrupt proceedings?

Additionally, do you know if reporters will be required to stay in the courtroom throughout the trial? We are trying to coordinate our live coverage and determine whether we need to send two teams.

Thank you!

Good Afternoon,

In chatting with Tammie & Karama at SCJB this morning, we remembered that you had wanted to have one of your staff be the one to start and stop the recording it. We've simplified the system to where you will just need to start and stop the recording via the laptop and it will speak to the backup PC in the equipment rack. The other thing that I wanted to highlight is that the plug in for the evidence presentation at the podium for a laptop is an HDMI cable. You will want to tell anyone who will be presenting evidence to bring their own converter cord if their laptop does not have an HDMI output. Most laptops have them now, but I wanted to mention this just in case.

The other thing my support team wanted me to get was availability for you, Jeff and Paul if they need to reach back out to you on any support issues. I will add your availability to our contact sheet if you can get that over to me ASAP.

Thank you for all your help and hospitality as we work through this!

Hi Cindy!

I have a few questions regarding media coverage of the Murdaugh trial. I'm not sure if you're the right person to ask, but you've been so helpful in the past I figured you would at least be able to point me in the right direction.

On the media coverage sheet we received yesterday, it said reporters could have cell phones in the court room as long as they were off or in silent mode. To clarify, does this mean no texting is allowed? Or can reporters text/email as long as they don't ring and disrupt proceedings?

Additionally, do you know if reporters will be required to stay in the courtroom throughout the trial? We are trying to coordinate our live coverage and determine whether we need to send two teams.

Thank you!

Hi Grace,

The trial began this afternoon with opening statements. You are welcome to come and watch. Judge Newman has typically been starting at 9:30 a.m. there is an order that says you can bring in handheld recorder, pen and notepad. You cannot bring in any cell phone, computer laptop, or any technological. You may have a clear bag.

I hope this helps. Let me know if you have any further questions.

Sincerely,

Good morning Mrs. Hill,

I'm reaching out to check on the status of WLTX News19's request to have a camera in the courtroom for the Alex Murdaugh trial.

I sent the original request to Judge Newman's office via fax and email on Jan. 3, 2023, and I am attaching a copy of that request on this email.

Some questions from our news team:

- Will be allowed to set up a camera and microphone, and if so, where?
- Will there be a media pool feed, and who is providing it?
- If so, will it be a switched feed (multiple cameras that go back and forth between lawyers, witnesses, and exhibits) or will it be one camera trained on one spot (presumably the person testifying)?
- And if there is a pool feed, what will we need to plug into the setup?
- And finally, where will are crews who are going need to park?

Thanks for your assistance in this matter,

I know trials are open to the public but during some high publicity cases, seating can be on a first come first seated basis with the courtroom closed at capacity. I saw the live coverage and was surprised the courtroom was only probably half full. I noticed many in the gallery wearing badges that jurors, witnesses, media or court personnel might wear. So is there a process or screening to attend? Something we need to do in advance? Just trying to avoid an inconvenience for you and or us that day. Message	I would like to make your county and the courthouse aware that there are 2 Youtube creators outside your county house that are inciting possible protest in front of the court for the Murdaugh. Andra Griffin and Johnathan Lee Riches are both from Florida. Please research these people. They have a history of causing problems in many cases. Johnathan Lee Riches is a long time criminal. PLEASE research these people. They are there to cause trouble for Law Enforcement. Please keep a check on these people. The community is not safe with these two criminals. They will incite protest against your officers.

Good morning,

I reached out to the clerk's office this morning and was transferred to security, who said they would reach out to you.

Will the courts be addressing the issue regarding the juror who was photographed yesterday during the evacuations? The image was sent out to media outlets, who were then later asked to delete the image. While I haven't personally seen the image, this is against the judge's order regarding media coverage.

Does the office have a statement to provide?

Thanks so much,

Hello sweet Nancy grace,

I do have the awful covid and all of its horrible symptoms.I am hoping to be cured by this long weekend and back at it by Tuesday.

I know nurse Barbara and I will make sure that she has clearance to get in tomorrow.

I hope that you are still watching because today's evidence has been phenomenal in my opinion.And off the record, we have a wonderful jury.

Take care of you and those children and hubby and mom and hope to see you soon.

Subject: Fwd: Meals in Colleton County for Murdaugh Trial
To: <dbeattyj@sccourts.org>

Dear Honorable Justice Beatty,

I come to you writing for support and explanation to my county finance and administration for the feeding and funding of 40 people in our courthouse for the Murdaugh Trial.

I received this email from our finance manager. At every turn, I have experienced questions on why I am doing things as a clerk of court. It's very petty, in my opinion that I have to be questioned for things regarding trial expenses for which I have a budget for.

Yes, this apparently has been termed "the trial of the century." It is being watched worldwide on television, YouTube, internet, podcasts, etc.

We in Colleton County certainly did not ask for any of this, but here we are trying our best to do what is necessary and accommodate the small circle that is involved in the courtroom.

We have a limited amount of time when Judge Newman says break and we are adjourned for an hour and 15 minutes. I am responsible for feeding 18 jurors, 2 bailiffs who watch over the jury, Judge Newman, his wife, his law clerk, his law enforcement detail, my 3 staff in the courtroom, me, my 2 court reporters, a media attorney who is here requested by the judge, 4 law enforcement who are security in the courtroom, the defendant and his 2 guards, court administration staff who is here, and an I.T. specialist who has been contracted in for the trial.

This kind of trial and it's process is large and quite frankly a new experience for us on this scale.

I am doing the best I know how in taking care in spending the tax payer dollars in the use of my budget to the best of my knowledge. If someone else would like to come in and take over, they are welcome to. I will hand over the accounts, the whole trial, the decision making process that comes with it, the complaints from the public, the media, my own County whom I feel pretty unsupported by, many of my staff, and I will gladly sit back and take a back seat, while someone with a much brighter mind takes the reigns. We have been planning for this whole trial process for 4 months. I was even tasked with searching for a hotel in the event the attorneys and judge would sequester the jury. I went to each hotel in my county and talked with the management, looked at rooms, saw each room with my own eyes, smelled for cleanliness , and talked about pricing in case of sequestration. It came down to one hotel, the Microtel Inn, and their management even was willing to block the entire 67 rooms all of December and much of January, until we found out 3 days before trial that there would be no sequestration. The Manager of Microtel was extremely disappointed of course, even though we talked all along about the process and the possibility of a sequestration not happening. However, we felt strongly all along that it would happen. Alas, it did not.

The Microtel has submitted a request to me of an amount to be paid to them for losing out on 6 weeks of rooms that could have been rented, that I need to submit to my county finance dept and administration, it is an amount for one night's rent of all the rooms, which I feel is only right. But we can address that later.

Currently, I'm disappointed that I have to deal with an explanation of 40 lunches for my courtroom personnel.

And one more thing, if I may, Judge Newman granted a motion yesterday and filed an Order granting the evidence of other crimes of the defendant to be introduced into this trial. So that means, our trial here will be extended to a further date. I'm going to be ordering lunches for quite a while longer.

I'm reaching out for support and help in this current situation I find myself in.

Please advise.

Your loyal and ever-learning Clerk in Colleton County,

Can you let me know why we are now getting 40 meals. My limited understanding is that we need to feed those who are not allowed to leave the courthouse like the jurors, the alternates, the defendant, the judge, but I can not come back to 40.

Thanks,
Jon

Hi Brooke,

Yes, I remember! I thought your docuseries was really good. The crowds have certainly grown; unbelievable to me. I can have my security make you a badge starting next Monday and it will be at the front with security for when you arrive. I've copied my main security on this email as well.

Stay safe. Look forward to seeing you.

Sincerely,

The lady I talked to is the friend of Kim Lanier who is disabled, her name is Tracy, and they were having a hard time parking and getting to courthouse. This could very easily be a bigger issue of a lawsuit and thus I'm helping to pay her tow bill, and will talk to Mr. Wysong about what happened.

Dear Honorable Justice Beatty,

I come to you writing for support and explanation to my county finance and administration for the feeding and funding of 40 people in our courthouse for the Murdaugh Trial.

I received this email from our finance manager. At every turn, I have experienced questions on why I am doing things as a clerk of court. It's very petty, in my opinion that I have to be questioned for things regarding trial expenses for which I have a budget for.

Yes, this apparently has been termed "the trial of the century." It is being watched worldwide on television, YouTube, internet, podcasts, etc.

We in Colleton County certainly did not ask for any of this, but here we are trying our best to do what is necessary and accommodate the small circle that is involved in the courtroom.

We have a limited amount of time when Judge Newman says break and we are adjourned for an hour and 15 minutes. I am responsible for feeding 18 jurors, 2 bailiffs who watch over the jury, Judge Newman, his wife, his law clerk, his law enforcement detail, my 3 staff in the courtroom, me, my 2 court reporters, a media attorney who is here requested by the judge, 4 law enforcement who are security in the courtroom, the defendant and his 2 guards, court administration staff who is here, and an I.T. specialist who has been contracted in for the trial.

This kind of trial and it's process is large and quite frankly a new experience for us on this scale.

I am doing the best I know how in taking care in spending the tax payer dollars in the use of my budget to the best of my knowledge. If someone else would like to come in and take over, they are welcome to. I will hand over the accounts, the whole trial, the decision making process that comes with it, the complaints from the public, the media, my own County whom I feel pretty unsupported by, many of my staff, and I will gladly sit back and take a back seat, while someone with a much brighter mind takes the reigns. We have been planning for this whole trial process for 4 months. I was even tasked with searching for a hotel in the event the attorneys and judge would sequester the jury. I went to each hotel in my county and talked with the management, looked at rooms, saw each room with my own eyes, smelled for cleanliness , and talked about pricing in case of sequestration. It came down to one hotel, the Microtel Inn, and their management even was willing to block the entire 67 rooms all of December and much of January, until we found out 3 days before trial that there would be no sequestration. The Manager of Microtel was extremely disappointed of course, even though we talked all along about the process and the possibility of a sequestration not happening. However, we felt strongly all along that it would happen. Alas, it did not.

The Microtel has submitted a request to me of an amount to be paid to them for losing out on 6 weeks of rooms that could have been rented, that I need to submit to my county finance dept and administration, it is an amount for one night's rent of all the rooms, which I feel is only right. But we can address that later.

Currently, I'm disappointed that I have to deal with an explanation of 40 lunches for my courtroom personnel.

And one more thing, if I may, Judge Newman granted a motion yesterday and filed an Order granting the evidence of other crimes of the defendant to be introduced into this trial. So that means, our trial here will be extended to a further date. I'm going to be ordering lunches for quite a while longer.

I'm reaching out for support and help in this current situation I find myself in.

Please advise.

Your loyal and ever-learning Clerk in Colleton County,

Can you let me know why we are now getting 40 meals. My limited understanding is that we need to feed those who are not allowed to leave the courthouse like the jurors, the alternates, the defendant, the judge, but I can not come back to 40.

Thanks,
Jon

I'm so THRILLED TO hear this!! It was FTRs voice to text. And FTR actually refunded the money for Trans to the defense. It was bad.

My question is was that rough draft typed by a person who was provided the audio or was it done voice-to-text by FTR? NCVRA is lobbying to KEEP live reporters in the courtroom for just this reason.

Our pews hold up to 9 or 10 based on a person's size. Ten would be a great number. I can also tell you that our overflow place is across the street at the Wildlife Center and we've had a group come that had 20 and they did 10 in the morning at the courthouse and 10 at WC in morning, and then switched out the 10 for the afternoon. Hope this helps.

We are getting ready for state and understand the gravity of the case being held in Colleton County . I along with another member of the team came today to learn more about the judicial system through the Murdaugh case however we live so far away that it was impossible to get in as we woke up at 4:30am and drove straight there from Savannah and still had around 40 people in front of us after the courtroom was full. I inquired with a police officer there about reserving seats for a learning opportunity and he said to reach out to you as you have granted it in the past and could possibly make arrangements. I was wondering if this was possible for Monday February 27, 2023? I know that it is last minute but I did not know how challenging it would be to obtain a seat. Please let me know if this would be at all possible? Thank you in advance have a wonderful day!

Hailey,

We will put you down for 2 badges. I've copied my security on this email as well.

How does Tuesday work for you? You can park off of wichman street and turn onto Walter Street, which is one way. Go down halfway and on the right you will see a parking area on your right. You can park there and walk up to the courthouse.

Hi Becky,

I'm scared it might be a bit complicated to make sushi, I know how to do it with certain specific products and I would not want to disappoint ! But just in case :
- raw salmon
- raw tuna
- rice for sushi
- rice vinegar
- mirin
- wasabi
- nori seaweed
- sake
- cucumber
- avocado
- soy sauce
- kumbu (it is another seaweed, not necessary though)
- a bamboo sushi rolling mat

Otherwise, I have other recipes in my pocket and don't mind going to Walmart to buy the ingredients !

See you later,

Arthur

I will be staying at the Baymont by Wyndham Inn and Suites for the first week, I'm not sure yet for the following days, but of course, any recommendations will be more than welcome, I will check on the court website.

I think I filled in my form stating I would need to be there from the 23rd until the 8th of February, do you think I should resend my form with the new dates ?

I can stay longer than what I mentioned, that is not a problem. Besides I would like to describe life in Hampton County after the trial and how things will get back to normal, so I will probably postpone my flight.

Do you think we could meet on the 19th of the 20th ?

Would you have a bit of time in the coming weeks to talk about it on the phone or on zoom, whatever is more convenient for you ?

Before I print, fill and sign the form properly, I quickly filled it on Google doc, could you please tell me if I need to put extra informations - just want to be sure I'm not writing any mistake ? The photo camera is not essential, if this is a problem, I could simply use my laptop and a notepad.

Hello Ms. Hill,

I am reaching out to see if I would be able to attend the Trial of Alex Murdaugh on Tuesday, February 14, 2023 at 10:00 a.m. Is there any spaces still available to view this trial? Do you need any further documentation from me for me to be able to attend?

Thanks,

Hi Becky,

I'm scared it might be a bit complicated to make sushi, I know how to do it with certain specific products and I would not want to disappoint ! But just in case :
- raw salmon
- raw tuna
- rice for sushi
- rice vinegar
- mirin
- wasabi
- nori seaweed
- sake
- cucumber
- avocado
- soy sauce
- kumbu (it is another seaweed, not necessary though)
- a bamboo sushi rolling mat

Otherwise, I have other recipes in my pocket and don't mind going to Walmart to buy the ingredients !

See you later,

Arthur

I will be staying at the Baymont by Wyndham Inn and Suites for the first week, I'm not sure yet for the following days, but of course, any recommendations will be more than welcome, I will check on the court website.

I think I filled in my form stating I would need to be there from the 23rd until the 8th of February, do you think I should resend my form with the new dates ?

I can stay longer than what I mentioned, that is not a problem. Besides I would like to describe life in Hampton County after the trial and how things will get back to normal, so I will probably postpone my flight.

Do you think we could meet on the 19th of the 20th ?

Best wishes,

I would definitely be eager to discuss the case with you, and indeed I may have a few questions about my stay in Walterboro - to be very honest, this is the first time I'm covering such a trial in the U.S. so your advice would be extremely precious. Would you have a bit of time in the coming weeks to talk about it on the phone or on zoom, whatever is more convenient for you ?

Before I print, fill and sign the form properly, I quickly filled it on Google doc, could you please tell me if I need to put extra informations - just want to be sure I'm not writing any mistake ? The photo camera is not essential, if this is a problem, I could simply use my laptop and a notepad.

Thank you very much for your help, and looking forward to hearing from you.

Cindy,

Polly is going to give you this bill. Please write a check to the lady whose name is listed as the car who got towed, Kim Lanier, in the amount of $286.00. The day that this happened, her car got towed from Wysong's parking lot and I am hoping to get reimbursement for this happening. The lady I talked to is the friend of Kim Lanier who is disabled, her name is Tracy, and they were having a hard time parking and getting to courthouse. This could very easily be a bigger issue of a lawsuit and thus I'm helping to pay her tow bill, and will talk to Mr. Wysong about what happened.

Thanks.

Can't rule-out Criminal Impersonator(s), i.e., Look-A-Likes with Laser Surgery Plastic Surgery Murderer to get close to the VICTIMS/DECEDENTS: Paul & Maggie.

NEWS QUOTE:

"Defense attorney Phillip Barber suggested to Dove that this indicated someone had thrown the phone out a car window in surprise, but the SLED agent said he couldn't testify at what angle the phone might have been tossed or landed. Maggie's phone was found the following day a half-mile from the property".

I declare under the penalty of perjury, under the laws of the (USA) United States of America and Its Territories, that the foregoing and following and attachments is true and correct, and discovered through In Pro Se, Independent Investigation that VICTIM: Alex Murdaugh's Defense Attorney: PHILLIP BARBER is predictably and probably a "Co-shill" of the covert terror post-02/26/1993-Terror plot "along" with Diesel Truck Tow truck Drivers that have or planning to TOW & AUCTION the Murdaugh Family's CARS (e.g., TRANSPORTATION Vehicles; Automobiles). Pursuant to The Patriot Act the Lie Detector Test that Does Not Work-off Of Stress is appropriate for the Defense Attorney/(Co-Suspect/Co-fence Suspect) PHILLIP BARBER to be Tested "before" Trial is Over if due diligent.

Hi Harleigh,

Yes, you would be able to come. The courtroom opens at 8:30 every morning. Please remember no cell phone, no smart watches, no lap tops. You can bring a clear bag. Make sure you have your I.D. with you. Also maybe a small blanket. The courtroom gets a little chilly.

Subject: Fwd: Meals in Colleton County for Murdaugh Trial
To: <dbeattyj@sccourts.org>

Dear Honorable Justice Beatty,

I come to you writing for support and explanation to my county finance and administration for the feeding and funding of 40 people in our courthouse for the Murdaugh Trial.

I received this email from our finance manager. At every turn, I have experienced questions on why I am doing things as a clerk of court. It's very petty, in my opinion that I have to be questioned for things regarding trial expenses for which I have a budget for.

Yes, this apparently has been termed "the trial of the century." It is being watched worldwide on television, YouTube, internet, podcasts, etc.

We in Colleton County certainly did not ask for any of this, but here we are trying our best to do what is necessary and accommodate the small circle that is involved in the courtroom.

We have a limited amount of time when Judge Newman says break and we are adjourned for an hour and 15 minutes. I am responsible for feeding 18 jurors, 2 bailiffs who watch over the jury, Judge Newman, his wife, his law clerk, his law enforcement detail, my 3 staff in the courtroom, me, my 2 court reporters, a media attorney who is here requested by the judge, 4 law enforcement who are security in the courtroom, the defendant and his 2 guards, court administration staff who is here, and an I.T. specialist who has been contracted in for the trial.

This kind of trial and it's process is large and quite frankly a new experience for us on this scale.

I am doing the best I know how in taking care in spending the tax payer dollars in the use of my budget to the best of my knowledge. If someone else would like to come in and take over, they are welcome to. I will hand over the accounts, the whole trial, the decision making process that comes with it, the complaints from the public, the media, my own County whom I feel pretty unsupported by, many of my staff, and I will gladly sit back and take a back seat, while someone with a much brighter mind takes the reigns. We have been planning for this whole trial process for 4 months. I was even tasked with searching for a hotel in the event the attorneys and judge would sequester the jury. I went to each hotel in my county and talked with the management, looked at rooms, saw each room with my own eyes, smelled for cleanliness , and talked about pricing in case of sequestration. It came down to one hotel, the Microtel Inn, and their management even was willing to block the entire 67 rooms all of December and much of January, until we found out 3 days before trial that there would be no sequestration. The Manager of Microtel was extremely disappointed of course, even though we talked all along about the process and the possibility of a sequestration not happening. However, we felt strongly all along that it would happen. Alas, it did not.

The Microtel has submitted a request to me of an amount to be paid to them for losing out on 6 weeks of rooms that could have been rented, that I need to submit to my county finance dept and administration, it is an amount for one night's rent of all the rooms, which I feel is only right. But we can address that later.

Currently, I'm disappointed that I have to deal with an explanation of 40 lunches for my courtroom personnel.

And one more thing, if I may, Judge Newman granted a motion yesterday and filed an Order granting the evidence of other crimes of the defendant to be introduced into this trial. So that means, our trial here will be extended to a further date. I'm going to be ordering lunches for quite a while longer.

I'm reaching out for support and help in this current situation I find myself in.

Please advise.

Your loyal and ever-learning Clerk in Colleton County,

Can you let me know why we are now getting 40 meals. My limited understanding is that we need to feed those who are not allowed to leave the courthouse like the jurors, the alternates, the defendant, the judge, but I can not come back to 40.

Thanks,
Jon

Sam,

Sorry to be getting back to you so late. I think by now you've located your tripod and we've even managed to find spots for you and other outlets to set up and have some sort of plan.

My Deputy who brought the tripod in did so bc we had family court scheduled today and she didn't want anyone messing with it or accidentally taking it.

When we all talked during the last big storm it was my understanding that we were fine to be under there.

Actually, since we know you are coming, we can have a badge prepared for you both and you don't have to stand in line at an early hour. When you come to Walterboro, you will find public parking down Washington Street mid-way, ,or you can turn on Wichman Street and immediately take a right onto the one-way street named Walter Street. A short way down this street on your RIGHT is a small area of parking lot and green space for parking. I would suggest this space to park. Then you can walk down and cross over Main Street and on to the courthouse.

Hi Angela,

Thank you for reaching out. I know you are one proud moma! I love Laughlin's hair as well! We would love to have you attend the trial. Actually, since we know you are coming, we can have a badge prepared for you both and you don't have to stand in line at an early hour. When you come to Walterboro, you will find public parking down Washington Street mid-way, ,or you can turn on Wichman Street and immediately take a right onto the one-way street named Walter Street. A short way down this street on your RIGHT is a small area of parking lot and green space for parking. I would suggest this space to park. Then you can walk down and cross over Main Street and on to the courthouse.

If you will let me know on Thursday when you are parked and ready to walk in, we can have one of your bailiffs be on the lookout for you and fast track you in. I would say to be here and parked by 8:45.

If you have any questions, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Becky

He was on the JET Middle School Mock Trial team this year and they won first place in the SC State Competition in December!! He is very interested in coming with me to be in the courtroom during a real trial. I wanted to ask if there was an age limit (he's almost 13), and if we could come on Thursday. It will only be the two of us. I know we will have to get there early and wait in line, I just wanted to double check that he would be able to get inside with me. Thank you so much! I loved your interview on FitsNews, and everyone is raving about how well your office is handling the trial. Thank you again!

Mr murdaugh,hi I am a pysic and I want to give you some information that has been coming to me,the gun murdaugh used could possibly be married in the hole where earlier in the day he was messing with the tree and Alex saidathat Paul recorded and posted on Snapchat,and may want to check the shovel,as far as Paul's phone in which Alex stated that he rolled Paul over,his phone fell out of his pocket,Alex said he was putting it in his pocket,Alex had the phone and after he shot him he was placing back on him,that is the why Alex had to mention the phone to investigator,but that is what my physic power is telling me and I am Ventura county,I have been glued to this trial,and one other thing,Alex had that rain coat wrapped up in that tarp when he went to his mother,he killed his wife and son and he needs to get 2 life sentences,the murdaugh s name should not hold power,and Alex needs to pay for all the people he has hurt he can't even cry when they are showing photos of his son's brains blowed out,and he has the eyes of a killer,and should never be allowed to be released on bail,he is a coward,and I speculate he will kill him self to take the easy way out,let him sit in jail and rot, that is where he belongs,. Thank you

How does Tuesday work for you? You can park off of wichman street and turn onto Walter Street, which is one way. Go down halfway and on the right you will see a parking area on your right. You can park there and walk up to the courthouse.

Thank you for the media form. For hotel recommendations, I would suggest a bed and breakfast, The Old Academy, near the courthouse. Then, there is The Hampton Inn located near the interstate, Cracker Barrel, Ruby Tuesday.

Currently, both have availability.

Hello Rebecca,

Enchanté et merci infiniment pour votre aide !

I would definitely be eager to discuss the case with you, and indeed I may have a few questions about my stay in Walterboro - to be very honest, this is the first time I'm covering such a trial in the U.S. so your advice would be extremely precious. Would you have a bit of time in the coming weeks to talk about it on the phone or on zoom, whatever is more convenient for you ?

Before I print, fill and sign the form properly, I quickly filled it on Google doc, could you please tell me if I need to put extra informations - just want to be sure I'm not writing any mistake ? The photo camera is not essential, if this is a problem, I could simply use my laptop and a notepad.

Thank you very much for your help, and looking forward to hearing from you.

Best wishes,

Arthur

Bonjour!

I took French in high school and college, but rarely use it anymore; I don't want to appear deceitful because my use of this language that I love is so very limited.

So good to hear from you. I've attached the form that you will just need to fill out and email back to me. The courtroom holds 234 people, and the trial attendance will be on a first come, first serve basis.

If you plan to stay in Walterboro, I can recommend some places to stay.

I think your book idea is great. Now is the time. I am also interested in writing a book. I have lived among the Murdaughs and worked with them and am kind of the "feet on the ground" so to speak. If you're interested in a partnership, let me know!

Good morning,
I would like to bring a group of my seniors to the courthouse to observe the Murdaugh proceedings and wondered what the process was. Do I need to fill out a request form? There would potentially be 30 students, but if that number is not allowed, I can modify. I look forward to your response.
Thank you,

Good afternoon,

Judge Goldsmith and Ms. Raines,

I guess the whole world knows that Colleton County is in its 4th week of State v. Murdaugh, and likely to go another week or two.

Tiffany, if you would please advise about the CP term of court that was scheduled with our most beloved Judge B. Goldsmith. We have not prepared a CP docket due to being knee-deep in the GS trial at hand.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Kindest regards,

Rebecca "Becky" Hill

Hi Trevor,

I was not inside the courtroom when this happened, as I was coming up the stairs from just having to talk to Lynn and John Marvin about the rules and what not to do's. A better person would be Nette Grant with Law Enforcement or Angela Stalling with law enforcement.

Good morning Ms Hill,

My name is Holly Honderich and I am a reporter with BBC News, based out of DC.

I am travelling to Walterboro tomorrow to write about Alexander Murdaugh's ongoing murder trial.

I wanted to apply for lottery media seating in the courtroom this week. I saw that there was a form from the Clerk's office that I should submit by 4pm each day. Can you please provide me with that form?

Any additional guidance you have for how to access the courtroom this coming week would be much appreciated.

My staff, the bailiffs, the deputies have all been working so hard the last 3 months, and especially the last 6 weeks. It would a gracious thank you for them to go home early and unwind. If not, I understand that as well.

If you would send the Media form back to me and mAtwood, that would be great.

The Media Center will have a live feed to plug into.

Security will provide our own Court -issued badge, but we will still need for Medial to wear their own identifying lanyard or badge.

Hope this helps!!

Hi Victoria,

Thank you for reaching out. I will refer you to our website at www.colletoncounty.org and click on the Clerk of Court. We are trying to update the information under the Murdaugh Trial as quick as we have information that is pertinent.

A quick overview though is you will need your Media ID badge to enter courthouse and wear at all times. The court security will also give you another badge that will change colors daily. We are not allowing any food or drink into the courthouse. There will be water and snacks available to purchase once you are inside. We are not allowing electronic technology of any kind by the public or the media; just a notepad and pen, per the Order of the judge.

We will open the courthouse daily at 8:00 am. It is on a first come, first serve basis. There is a media central center over at the Wildlife Center across the street from the courthouse which will specifically house media, journalists, etc. Food trucks will be in the parking lot next to the Wildlife Center daily. Court TV will be the main TV plug for all other outlets.

Please feel free to message or call anytime if you have any other questions. Please refer to our website for any updates as well.

Sincerely,

Rebecca "Becky" H. Hill

Dear Mr Bender and Ms Hill,

The Colleton County clerk's office gave me your contact information. I am a journalist at The Economist and I was sitting in on the Murdaugh trial last week. I have two followup questions that I was wondering if you could help me get answers to.

1. How many jurors were dismissed because of personal connections to the Murdaughs during jury selection?
2. How many judges recused themselves from the case before Clifton Newton took it on?

Thank you very much,
Rebecca

Thank you so much, to Val, Becky, Joe and everyone else involved in arranging these upcoming events. The camaraderie, respect and friendship that has continually been in good supply in Walterboro has helped offset the heaviness and tragedy of the story (or at least made a big dent).

As the trial winds down I'm glad for these upcoming opportunities to reflect and cut loose with so many new buddies. Thanks for going the extra mile and setting these plans in motion! See many of you soon and please of course reach out for help if there's non-obvious ways any of us can pitch in.

Val, thanks for the fun event Monday, God knows we need it. I have also expressed to Becky Hill our need to thank her and her staff for all their kindnesses. I have planned (with her) a thank you party/press mixer to honor her and her staff Wednesday evening and will provide drinks(within reason because I know journalists) and will have a food truck at the ready. Becky's very talented singer/ songwriter daughter will perform with congregation and music beginning around 7:30- when you all ought to be switching off your lights and retiring pencils. Y'all. It sounds so strange to say, but it has been a joy to share this bunker with you. Here's hoping we can all get together for a toast and some fellowship next week.

Monday is my birthday, and (the inimitable and awesome) Becky Hill has a birthday a few days after that. So, please join us at my place on Monday for CAKE (thanks, Becky!), beer, pizza and whatever else we can scrounge up between now and then.

Who: Press corps, lawyers and friends of the court. Please reach out to those I missed inadvertently! Just lmk so we can order enough for all.

What: CAKE, beer and pizza (and almost certainly Ruffles and French Onion dip and something else French because Arthur is coming)

Where: 580 Avant Road, Walterboro

When: Monday, whenever you're off deadline

How: my Air BNB is at the end of a mile-long dirt road. It's raining cats and dogs this minute, sooo...

a) if you have an SUV or truck, have at it or hop in with someone who does.
b) drive as far as the gate, park and walk if you feel like it and the sun's still out.
c) park at the gate and call me at 404.433.2293 and someone will come fetch you. If you don't believe me, ask Drew. Apparently he was back here drinking beer in high school!

With thanks,
Val

Hello Becky,

I hope you are doing well, and I'm wishing you all the best for this upcoming year. I wanted to let you know I will be in Walterboro from the 18th of January to the 12th of February. Do you think you would have a bit of time to meet before the beginning of the trial ? Would be a great pleasure and also interesting for me to understand how this trial is affecting life in Hampton County.

Thanks again for your time and help !

Arthur

Hello Rebecca,

I was wondering if you had any recommendations of people who have known the Murdaugh personally and with whom I should talk to for the book? Also would you have other documents that could be useful for me to dive deep into the case ?

Many thanks for your help !

Best wishes,

Arthur

Thank you for the media form. For hotel recommendations, I would suggest a bed and breakfast, The Old Academy, near the courthouse. Then, there is The Hampton Inn located near the interstate, Cracker Barrel, Ruby Tuesday.

Currently, both have availability.

Take care!

Hello Rebecca,

Enchanté et merci infiniment pour votre aide !

I would definitely be eager to discuss the case with you, and indeed I may have a few questions about my stay in Walterboro - to be very honest, this is the first time I'm covering such a trial in the U.S. so your advice would be extremely precious. Would you have a bit of time in the coming weeks to talk about it on the phone or on zoom, whatever is more convenient for you ?

Before I print, fill and sign the form properly, I quickly filled it on Google doc, could you please tell me if I need to put extra informations - just want to be sure I'm not writing any mistake ? The photo camera is not essential, if this is a problem, I could simply use my laptop and a notepad.

Thank you very much for your help, and looking forward to hearing from you.

Best wishes,

Arthur

Bonjour!

I took French in high school and college, but rarely use it anymore; I don't want to appear deceitful because my use of this language that I love is so very limited.

So good to hear from you. I've attached the form that you will just need to fill out and email back to me. The courtroom holds 234 people, and the trial attendance will be on a first come, first serve basis.

If you plan to stay in Walterboro, I can recommend some places to stay.

I think your book idea is great. Now is the time. I am also interested in writing a book. I have lived among the Murdaughs and worked with them and am kind of the "feet on the ground" so to speak. If you're interested in a partnership, let me know!

I have been instructed by Lara Robinson that each card (each individual person) incurs a $.49 fee, no matter the amount that is loaded. Either there is someone missing from the report that was paid, or Rapid Financial was overpaid. Please let me know if you have any questions or what you can determine from this information.

Good morning, Miss Rebecca...
I wanted to let you know that today there is a major documentary beginning to air on NetFlix.
It covers the Murdaugh family extensively.
I understand that the jury is tasked with staying away from media coverage.
Just concerned that when they go home tonite and would like to "unwind" that they may inadvertently watch Netflix and unknowingly come upon this show.
Perhaps Judge Newman would like to warn them ahead of time?
That's all. I just thought you might like to know.
I appreciate seeing your smiling face in the courtroom! Refreshing! It really is.
Warmly,
Julia Hadsell

On the twelfth day of his murder trial, Alex Murdaugh looked bored.

Mr Murdaugh sat hunched at the defence table in the second-floor courtroom of the Colleton County Courthouse in Walterboro, South Carolina. He wore a dark blue suit, white shirt, and no tie, his thin, rimless glasses perched on the very end of his nose. Sometimes he looked up at the witnesses speaking ahead of him, but mostly he looked down. Months in prison had whittled down his formerly heavy frame. Once a towering figure, now Alex Murdaugh looked small.

Mr Murdaugh, 54, was on trial in Walterboro for heinous crimes - execution-style killings of his wife Maggie and his son Paul in their family home. Two rows behind him in the courtroom sat his other son, 25-year-old Buster, the only surviving member of Mr Murdaugh's immediate family. Amid all the spectacle of the trial - the out of town licence plates, food trucks and media vans crowding this small city - Buster sat quietly every day in support of his father. Behind him, on the rear wall of the courtroom, there was a rectangular-shaped sun stain where a painting used to be - a portrait of his namesake, his great-grandfather Rudolph "Buster" Murdaugh, which had been taken down for the trial.

For nearly a century, the Murdaugh family dominated this rural pocket of South Carolina - a flat expanse of marshlands, palm trees, white clapboard churches and porch-ringed houses. Three generations of Murdaugh men had served as chief prosecutor of the local judicial circuit, a 3,200 square mile stretch in the state's south, while running a private litigation firm that made them rich.

But according to prosecutors, Mr Murdaugh was stealing from that firm - millions of dollars over a decade. The murders of his wife and son, they allege, were a desperate attempt to distract from those financial crimes, which were nearing exposure in another case - a wrongful death suit involving Paul. He has pleaded not guilty to the murders.

Since his first arrest in September 2021, Mr Murdaugh's case has become a bizarre and twisted saga, featuring allegations of embezzlement, drug abuse, and a faked assassination attempt. But it has also exposed the apparently unchecked power of the Murdaugh family in their small community in South Carolina, and brought about the undoing of a local dynasty.

"This is what happens when average people have no checks and balances," said Bill Nettles, former US Attorney for South Carolina.

"And there were no checks and balances on him."

To know South Carolina's Lowcountry is to know the Murdaugh family name. For 86 unbroken years, 1920 to 2006, a Murdaugh presided as the chief prosecutor for South Carolina's Fourteenth Judicial Circuit. It was the longest such stretch of family control in United States history.

"They were the law," Mr Nettles said.

For even longer, the Murdaughs worked at the family-founded litigation firm, amassing a small fortune and building out their dominance in all corners of the Lowcountry.

Along the highways in this part of the state, large billboards are posted on almost every mile. Most were for fast food restaurants and prayer hotlines, but many were for personal injury law firms - a thriving industry in the Lowcountry. And by all accounts, the Murdaugh's firm - Peters, Murdaugh, Parker, Eltzroth & Detrick (PMPED) - was the best.

"They could get a verdict that would exceed the norm dramatically," said South Carolina lawyer Joe McCulloch, who has faced three generations of Murdaughs in court.

"And when I say exceed the norm - they could turn a $100,000 case into a million dollar settlement."

The Murdaugh's judicial circuit became known as a mecca for plaintiffs, spurring rumours of judicial corruption and jury tampering. At the very least, locals said, the Murdaugh's stature gave them the upper hand in trial.

"When people graduated high school, they would send gifts, they paid for funerals, sent flowers to people who were in the hospital," said Eric Bland, a malpractice attorney based in South Carolina, who was involved in a suit against Mr Murdaugh.

"When they got in front of juries, they knew them," he said. "They salted the town with goodwill."

The rail company CSX Transportation was sued so often and so successfully by PMPED that the firm's office became known as the house that CSX built. And corporations who could avoid it reportedly skipped the area entirely.

From these two offices, as both public prosecutors and private attorneys, the Murdaughs established themselves as a de facto authority of the Lowcountry. Their influence was not wide - it did not even span the width of the state - but it was deep. In the small, insular community where they lived, residents said, the Murdaugh family ruled.

"They controlled this area for years and years," said Wally Pregnall, a retired administrator at the Medical University of South Carolina, who had driven from Charleston to see the trial up close. "The connection to the good ol' boys network, the power and the politics in South Carolina… that's all coming into play."

"We all knew them," said one waitress in town, who also didn't want to give her name, saying she didn't want to "get in trouble" for speaking out of turn. She also didn't want to be recorded. "You're just going to have to remember this," she said. "They had power, dirty power. And they took it too far."

In the third week of the trial, the former chief financial officer of PMPED Jeanne Seckinger described Alex Murdaugh's approach as a lawyer. "The art of bullshit, basically," she said.

Mr Murdaugh joined the family firm in the late 1990s, the fourth generation of his family's legal dynasty. He was successful, "not from his work ethic", Ms Seckinger said, "but his ability to establish relationships and manipulate people into settlements and clients into liking him."

According to colleagues, he was a loud and frenetic presence, always late and always in a rush, keeping different hours from the rest of the attorneys.

State and federal prosecutors - supported by testimony from Ms Seckinger and others - now say Mr Murdaugh was stealing from the firm, robbing colleagues and clients as early as 2011. Since the murders, he has been criminally charged with stealing about $8.8m (£7.31m) from a number of victims and has been disbarred. Friends have testified Mr Murdaugh has confessed to financial wrongdoing, but he has not yet entered a plea in those cases.

The prosecutors' arguments paint a picture of fraud and theft at an almost implausible scale, and of a perpetrator convinced of his impunity. Mr Murdaugh, they allege, stole indiscriminately from colleagues and clients, the young and old, the disabled and sick.

"You look at it from afar and say 'this is not possible', there has to be something to prevent abuses and improprieties that ridiculous," said veteran journalist and South Carolina University professor Randy Covington. "But the answer is no, there wasn't."

At trial, Ms Seckinger detailed at least a dozen of these crimes. Her more than three hours of testimony began to sound like a record on loop. "Alex stole it", she said, again and again. To her right, a weary-looking bailiff appeared to fall asleep, gun still holstered to his hip.

According to the prosecution, Mr Murdaugh's exact methods varied. Sometimes he faked signatures, other times he claimed inflated expenses. He syphoned millions by impersonating a legitimate insurance company.

"Everybody just assumed they were the Murdaughs so they must be doing it right," Mr Nettles said.

For years, Ms Seckinger testified, she had noticed yellow flags, small irregularities in his files. But the firm was a "brotherhood", she said. "They trusted him."

Tony Satterfield trusted Mr Murdaugh too. When Mr Satterfield's mother, Gloria - the Murdaugh's housekeeper for 20 years - died after a fall at work, Mr Murdaugh recommended a lawyer he knew who could help them file a wrongful death suit against him.

Two of Mr Murdaugh's insurance policies paid out a total of $4.3m, but the Satterfields did not receive a dime. They did not even know the case had been settled. Alex Murdaugh, in conjunction with the lawyer he recommended, had kept it himself.

"I feel like if someone had paid closer attention, they would have figured this out," said Eric Bland, the malpractice lawyer who represented the Satterfields against Mr Murdaugh. "But those kids revered the Murdaughs, they trusted him."

One year after Gloria Satterfield died, there was another fatal accident in the Murdaugh family orbit.

Late in the evening of 24 February 2019, Paul Murdaugh was aboard the family boat when it rammed headlong into the Archers Creek Bridge in Beaufort, throwing three of the six passengers - all young adults - into the cold water below. One of them, 19-year-old Mallory Beach, was killed, her body recovered days later in a marsh several miles away.

The tragedy would present a problem that Alex Murdaugh could not contain.

At the time of impact, according to all of the other passengers, Paul had been driving. A blood test would find the 19-year-old Murdaugh's blood alcohol level was three times the legal limit.

Taken together, witness testimony from the night - from the survivors, authorities, and hospital staff - renders an image of Mr Murdaugh hellbent on insulating his son. He roamed from room to room, they said, trying to speak to the teenagers. A nurse said he looked like he was trying to "orchestrate something". One passenger, Connor Cook, testified he was told by Mr Murdaugh "to keep my mouth shut". He was scared, he said, "them being who they are".

"It was a test of the system," said Mandy Mattney, a reporter based in South Carolina who has led coverage of the Murdaughs since the 2019 crash. "Everyone in Hampton really believed that Paul wouldn't be charged."

For two months, he wasn't. But the other survivors would all eventually testify that Paul was behind the wheel and in April 2019, he was charged with three crimes, including boating under the influence resulting in death. Looking back now, it may have been the moment Alex Murdaugh's life began to unravel.

The family of Mallory Beach hired a lawyer named Mark Tinsley to represent them in a wrongful death suit against Mr Murdaugh. Mr Tinsley, who is bearded and gruff, testified he planned to hold Mr Murdaugh "personally responsible" and seek millions in damages.

Mr Murdaugh claimed he was broke. "I didn't believe it," Mr Tinsley said.

So Mr Tinsley filed a motion to compel Mr Murdaugh to disclose his finances. A hearing on the matter was scheduled for 10 June, 2021. The disclosure would reveal his years of corporate fraud.

"The fuse was lit," Mr Tinsley said.

On 7 June 2021, three days before the hearing on his finances was scheduled, Alex Murdaugh called 911. His wife Maggie and son Paul had been shot, he said.

By the time the first sheriff's deputy had arrived at the family's 1,700 acre hunting estate, Moselle, Mr Murdaugh had a theory. "My son was in a boat wreck months back; he's getting threats," he said. "I know that's what it is."

Many in the Lowcountry believed him. Colleagues and friends testified they feared for Alex and his older son, Buster, thinking they both might be in danger. Mr Tinsley's case was over. "If Alex was the victim of a vigilante, nobody's going to hold him accountable," he said in court. "Sympathies had changed."

But three months later, Mr Murdaugh called 911 again, this time to report he had been shot in the head on the side of a rural road. He later admitted to arranging a botched hit on himself so that Buster could collect on his life insurance. As the ploy fell apart, PMPED disclosed they had pushed him out of the firm the day before the incident over alleged embezzlement. An investigation would later reveal he had first been confronted about missing money by CFO Jeanne Seckinger on 7 June - the day Maggie and Paul were killed. Mr Murdaugh issued a statement apologising and entered a drug rehab programme in another state.

In July 2022, Mr Murdaugh was arrested in the killings.

For five weeks now, the Murdaugh family's sordid downfall has drawn early morning crowds to the Walterboro courthouse, a line too long to fit inside. Upstairs, in the courtroom's cool air, spectators in suits and sundresses filled row after row of the dark wooden pews that line the room. At times, the atmosphere felt strangely like a church reception, Mr Murdaugh's brothers and son milling around, offering handshakes and weak smiles.

In this room, at least, sympathies have changed again. In the court of public opinion, Alex Murdaugh has lost. "He did it. I don't think it's even a question," said Deborah Brinkley, who had travelled two hours from Aiken, South Carolina to watch the proceedings.

But for a century, the Murdaugh family has made an ally out of juries, walking out of courtrooms with the judgments that built their fortune and cemented their influence. Alex Murdaugh's fate will be decided the same way, perhaps a final test of his sway in a case where all the evidence is circumstantial - there was no murder weapon found, no blood on Mr Murdaugh's t-shirt that night, no eyewitnesses to the killings.

And observers in Walterboro have speculated that Mr Murdaugh will take the stand and argue for his innocence himself.

"He still believes he still has the power to convince and manipulate regular people, like the jury," Ms Matney said. "And at the end of the day it comes down to them."

Hello,

The Murdaugh text is copied below and at this google doc: https://docs.google.com/document/d/1Ssk-nCuuDqP44eCmZhzAXBtdonjxZ_4sxPsX3J8JeiI/edit?usp=sharing

I have started a CPS file shell: 64645725

The court clerk just gave me access to the pool photos, which are great. Lots of Murdaugh and several of the characters I have in the story. https://www.flickr.com/photos/197478431@N03/

I have a freelance photographer in the area who is available but I think these will go a long way.

I will check in on Friday and can take up edits/production then or over the weekend. Scheduling the piece next week would be smart – we will catch the traffic around closing arguments etc but will still be ahead of a verdict. And there are rumours that the defence will call Alex to the stand which would add fantastic colour to the the story, particularly the end.

Thanks very much both, I'm so pleased I was able to go last week!

On the twelfth day of his murder trial, Alex Murdaugh looked bored

Mr Murdaugh sat hunched at the defence table in the second-floor courtroom of the Colleton County Courthouse in Walterboro, South Carolina. He wore a dark blue suit, white shirt, and no tie, his thin, rimless glasses perched on the very end of his nose. Sometimes he looked up at the witnesses testifying ahead of him, but mostly he looked down. Months in prison had whittled down his formerly heavy frame. Once a towering figure, now Alex Murdaugh looked small.

Mr Murdaugh, 54, was on trial in Walterboro for heinous crimes - execution-style killings of his wife Maggie and his son Paul in their family home. Two rows behind him in the courtroom sat his other son, 25-year-old Buster, the only surviving member of Mr Murdaugh's immediate family. Amid all the spectacle of the trial - the out of town licence plates, food trucks and media vans crowding this small city - Buster sat quietly every day in support of his father. Behind him, on the rear wall of the courtroom, there was a rectangular-shaped sun stain where a painting used to be - a portrait of his namesake, his great-grandfather Rudolph "Buster" Murdaugh, which had been taken down for the trial.

For nearly a century, the Murdaugh family dominated this small pocket of South Carolina - a flat expanse of marshlands, palm trees, white clapboard churches, and porch-ringed homes. Three generations of Murdaugh men had served as chief prosecutor of the local judicial circuit, a 3,200 square mile stretch in the state's south, while running a private litigation firm that made them rich.

But according to prosecutors, Mr Murdaugh was stealing from that firm - millions of dollars over a decade. The murders of his wife and son, they allege, were a desperate attempt to distract from those financial crimes, which were nearing exposure in a civil case involving Paul, who had been involved in a fatal speedboat accident. He has pleaded not guilty to the murders.

Since his first arrest in September 2021, Mr Murdaugh's case has become a bizarre and twisted saga, featuring allegations of embezzlement, drug abuse and a faked assassination attempt. But it has also exposed the apparently unchecked power of the Murdaugh family in their small community in South Carolina, and brought about the undoing of a local dynasty.

"This is what happens when average people have no checks and balances," said Bill Nettles, former US Attorney for South Carolina.

"And there were no checks and balances on him."

To know South Carolina's Lowcountry, is to know the Murdaugh family name. For 86 unbroken years, from 1920 to 2006, a Murdaugh presided as the chief prosecutor for South Carolina's Fourteenth Judicial Circuit. It was the longest such stretch of family control in United States history.

"They were the law," Mr Nettles said.

For even longer, the Murdaugh men worked at the family-founded litigation firm, amassing a small fortune and cultivating their dominance in all corners of the Lowcountry.

Along the highways in this part of the state, large billboards are posted on almost every mile. Most were for fast food restaurants and prayer hotlines but many were for personal injury lawyers - a thriving industry in the Lowcountry. And by all accounts, the Murdaugh's firm - Peters, Murdaugh, Parker, Eltzroth & Detrick (PMPED) - was the best.

"They could get a verdict that would exceed the norm dramatically," said South Carolina lawyer Joe McCulloch, who has faced three generations of Murdaughs in court.

"And when I say exceed the norm - they could turn a $100,000 case into a million dollar settlement."

The Murdaugh's judicial circuit became known as a mecca for plaintiffs, spurring rumours of judicial corruption and jury tampering. At the very least, locals said, the Murdaugh's stature gave them a leg up at trial.

"When people graduated high school, they would send gifts, they paid for funerals, sent flowers to people who were in the hospital," said Eric Bland, a malpractice attorney based in South Carolina, involved in a suit against Mr Murdaugh.

"When they got in front of juries, they knew them," he said. "They salted the town with goodwill."

The rail company CSX Transportation was sued so often and so successfully by PMPED that the firm's office became known as the house that CSX built. And corporations who could avoid it reportedly skipped the area entirely.

From these two offices, as both public prosecutors and private attorneys, the Murdaughs established themselves as a de facto authority of the Lowcountry. Their influence was not wide - it did not even span the width of the state - but it was deep. In the small, insular community where they lived, residents said, the Murdaugh family ruled.

"They controlled this area for years and years," said Wally Pregnall, a retired administrator at the Medical University of South Carolina, who had driven from Charleston to see the trial up close. "The connection to the good ol' boy network, the power and the politics in South Carolina… that's all coming into play."

"We all knew them," said one waitress in town, who also didn't want to give her name, saying she didn't want to "get in trouble" for speaking against the family. She also didn't want to be recorded. "You're just going to have to remember this," she said. "They had power, dirty power. And they took it too far."

In the third week of Mr Murdaugh's trial, the former chief financial officer of PMPED Jeanne Seckinger described Alex Murdaugh's style as a lawyer. "The art of bullshit, basically," she said.

Mr Murdaugh, who joined the family firm in the late 1990s, was successful, "not from his work ethic", Ms Seckinger said, "but his ability to establish relationships and to manipulate people into settlements and clients into liking him".

According to colleagues, he was a loud and frenetic presence, always late and always in a rush, keeping different hours from the rest of the attorneys.

State and federal prosecutors - supported by testimony from Ms Seckinger and others - now say Mr Murdaugh was stealing from his firm, robbing colleagues and clients as early as 2011. He faces some 90 charges for alleged financial wrongdoing. Friends have testified that he confessed and apologised for the theft after it came to light, but he has not yet entered a plea in these cases.

The prosecutors' arguments paint a picture of fraud and theft at an almost implausible scale, and of a perpetrator convinced of his impunity. Mr Murdaugh, they allege, stole indiscriminately from colleagues and clients, the young and old, the disabled and sick.

"You look at it from afar and say 'this is not possible', there has to be something to prevent abuses and improprieties that ridiculous," said veteran journalist and South Carolina University professor Randy Covington. "But the answer is no, there wasn't."

At trial, Ms Seckinger detailed at least a dozen of these crimes. Her more than three hours of testimony began to sound like a record on loop. "Alex stole it", she said, again and again. To her right, a weary-looking bailiff appeared to fall asleep, gun still holstered to his hip.

According to the prosecution, Mr Murdaugh's exact methods varied. Sometimes he faked signatures, other times he claimed inflated expenses. Other methods were crude. He opened a personal bank account under the name "Forge", meant to impersonate a legitimate insurance company called Forge Consulting.

"Everybody just assumed they were the Murdaughs so they must be doing it right," Mr Nettles said.

For years, Ms Seckinger said, she had noticed yellow flags, small irregularities in his files. But the firm was a "brotherhood", she said. "They trusted him".

Tony Satterfield trusted Mr Murdaugh too. When Mr Satterfield's mother, Gloria - the Murdaugh's long time housekeeper - died after a fall at work, Mr Murdaugh recommended a lawyer he knew who could help them file a wrongful death suit against the family.

Mr Murdaugh's insurance company paid out to the tune of $4.4m, but the Satterfields did not receive a dime, they did not even know the case had been settled. Alex Murdaugh, in conjunction with the lawyer he had recommended, had kept it himself.

"I feel like if someone paid closer attention, they would have figured this out," said Eric Bland, the malpractice lawyer who represented the Satterfields in a suit against Mr Murdaugh. "But those kids revered the Murdaughs, they trusted him."

One year after Gloria Setterfield died, there was another fatal accident in the Murdaugh family orbit.

Paul Murdaugh, Mr Murdaugh's 19-year-old son, was aboard the family's boat late at night when it rammed into the Archers Creek Bridge in Beaufort, throwing three of the six passengers, all young adults, into the cold water below. One of them, 19-year-old Mallory Beach, was killed - her body recovered days later in a marsh several miles away.

News of the accident - the tragic death of a young woman, the presence of a Murdaugh - gripped the Lowcountry.

"I think folks were kind of like - this is going to be an interesting test of the system, a test to see if the system treats Paul any differently," said Bill Nettles. "Once this boat crash happened, it seems to me, it went outside something they could contain."

Later, all of the survivors except for Paul would testify that it had been him behind the wheel at the time of impact. But on the night, there seemed to be confusion about who was driving - Paul or his friend, Connor Cook.

Witnesses eventually testified that that confusion had a source: Alex Murdaugh. According to their testimony, Alex roamed from room to room, trying to speak to the teenagers. A nurse told investigators he looked like he was trying to "orchestrate something". Connor Cook testified that he was told to "to keep my mouth shut".

He was scared, he told lawyers, "them being who they are".

But two months later, in April 2019, Paul Murdaugh was charged with three crimes, including boating under the influence resulting in death. Looking back now, it may have been the moment Alex Murdaugh's life began to unravel.

The family of Mallory Beach hired a lawyer named Mark Tinsely to represent them in a wrongful death suit against Alex Murdaugh. Mr Tinsley, who is bearded and gruff, testified he planned to hold Mr Murdaugh "personally responsible" and seek millions in damages.

Mr Murdaugh claimed he was broke. "I didn't believe it," Mr Tinsley said.

So Mr Tinsley filed a motion to compel Mr Murdaugh to disclose his finances. A hearing on the matter was scheduled for 10 June, 2021. The disclosure would reveal his years of corporate fraud.

"The fuse was lit," Mr Tinsley said.

On 7 June 2021, three days before the hearing on his finances was scheduled, the Colleton County Sheriff's office received a call from Alex Murdaugh. His wife Maggie and son Paul had been shot, he said.

By the time the first sheriff's deputy had arrived at the family's 1,700 acre hunting estate, Moselle, Mr Murdaugh had a theory. "My son was in a boat wreck months back; he's getting threats," he said. "I know that's what it is."

For weeks, most people in the Lowcountry seemed to believe him. Mr Tinsley's case was over. "If Alex was the victim of a vigilante, nobody's going to hold him accountable," he said in court. "Sympathies had changed."

But in July 2022, more than a year later, Mr Murdaugh was arrested in the killings. By then, his life was in free fall. He had been pushed out of the family firm over evidence of theft. An investigation would find he had been confronted about missing money at the firm by Jeanne Seckinger on 7 June - the same day Maggie and Paul were killed. And he had admitted to organising a botched hit on himself so that his surviving son could collect on his life insurance.

"This may be the most outrageous thing I've seen in 30 years in South Carolina," journalist Randy Covington said.

But inside the Colleton County Courthouse, where the trial has now stretched for weeks, the atmosphere was mostly staid, looking at times like a wedding reception. Spectators in suits, sundresses and heels milled around in the moments between witnesses, passing around mints and sharing sweaters for the courtroom's cool air.

Several said they had come to see the powerful finally held to account, even as Mr Murdaugh was still apparently receiving deferential treatment. "He's chewing gum, he's talking to family… he even touched them," Eric Bland said. "For normal defendants, that doesn't happen."

But for decades, juries in the Lowcountry have sided with the Murdaugh family, issuing the settlements that made them wealthy. Alex Murdaugh's future will be decided the same way, perhaps a final test of his influence.

"Have you noticed?" said one woman, named Linda, who had driven from Hilton Head to watch and declined to give her last name. "He only cries when the jury is looking."

Good morning,

I hope this 605 form finds you both well. I just spoke with Scott Grooms outside & he asked that I send this form over. I've just landed here & I know we are a little late in the game, but I would ideally like access inside the courthouse, but if that is not possible we would like direct access to the pool photos. My editor send me here because it is allegedly taking a long time for the pool photos to stream through AP and reach our offices & they'd like me to help in getting the images & reports sooner.

Please let me know what is possible & thank you for your time. I am looking forward to getting to know this seemingly lovely town!

Please see the below completed 605 request.

All the best,
Zak

Dear Honorable Justice Beatty,

I come to you writing for support and explanation to my county finance and administration for the feeding and funding of 40 people in our courthouse for the Murdaugh Trial.

I received this email from our finance manager. At every turn, I have experienced questions on why I am doing things as a clerk of court. It's very petty, in my opinion that I have to be questioned for things regarding trial expenses for which I have a budget for.

Yes, this apparently has been termed "the trial of the century." It is being watched worldwide on television, YouTube, internet, podcasts, etc.

We in Colleton County certainly did not ask for any of this, but here we are trying our best to do what is necessary and accommodate the small circle that is involved in the courtroom.

We have a limited amount of time when Judge Newman says break and we are adjourned for an hour and 15 minutes. I am responsible for feeding 18 jurors, 2 bailiffs who watch over the jury, Judge Newman, his wife, his law clerk, his law enforcement detail, my 3 staff in the courtroom, me, my 2 court reporters, a media attorney who is here requested by the judge, 4 law enforcement who are security in the courtroom, the defendant and his 2 guards, court administration staff who is here, and an I.T. specialist who has been contracted in for the trial.

This kind of trial and it's process is large and quite frankly a new experience for us on this scale.

I am doing the best I know how in taking care in spending the tax payer dollars in the use of my budget to the best of my knowledge. If someone else would like to come in and take over, they are welcome to. I will hand over the accounts, the whole trial, the decision making process that comes with it, the complaints from the public, the media, my own County whom I feel pretty unsupported by, many of my staff, and I will gladly sit back and take a back seat, while someone with a much brighter mind takes the reigns. We have been planning for this whole trial process for 4 months. I was even tasked with searching for a hotel in the event the attorneys and judge would sequester the jury. I went to each hotel in my county and talked with the management, looked at rooms, saw each room with my own eyes, smelled for cleanliness , and talked about pricing in case of sequestration. It came down to one hotel, the Microtel Inn, and their management even was willing to block the entire 67 rooms all of December and much of January, until we found out 3 days before trial that there would be no sequestration. The Manager of Microtel was extremely disappointed of course, even though we talked all along about the process and the possibility of a sequestration not happening. However, we felt strongly all along that it would happen. Alas, it did not.

The Microtel has submitted a request to me of an amount to be paid to them for losing out on 6 weeks of rooms that could have been rented, that I need to submit to my county finance dept and administration, it is an amount for one night's rent of all the rooms, which I feel is only right. But we can address that later.

Currently, I'm disappointed that I have to deal with an explanation of 40 lunches for my courtroom personnel.

And one more thing, if I may, Judge Newman granted a motion yesterday and filed an Order granting the evidence of other crimes of the defendant to be introduced into this trial. So that means, our trial here will be extended to a further date. I'm going to be ordering lunches for quite a while longer.

I'm reaching out for support and help in this current situation I find myself in.

Please advise.

Your loyal and ever-learning Clerk in Colleton County,

Can you let me know why we are now getting 40 meals. My limited understanding is that we need to feed those who are not allowed to leave the courthouse like the jurors, the alternates, the defendant, the judge, but I can not come back to 40.

Thanks,
Jon

Hi Nicole,

I am always excited and happy to allow students into the courtroom. I will say that 30 is quite a number at one time. What isno suggested everyone come, and split it 15 and 15 between morning and afternoon? We could have a courthouse AM group and a Wildlife center AM group, and then the PM Courtroom group and the PM afternoon Wildlife center group.

I hope this would work out. Let me know and then if you could reply back with all the names , including teachers, who are coming. My security will then take out the number of badges needed for that day. The wildlife center holds the extra media and they are all cool and interesting to talk to .

That's a good question. In a trial this big, it could take about 30 minutes.

Judge Clifton should be aware that Jim Griffin's tweet is still on his timeline even though he told the judge he removed it. Also, for the record this is NOT a RETWEET which would include the profile of the OG tweet. THIS is a LINK copied, pasted & TWEETED with a COMMENT (which he denied to the judge). HE LIED TO THE JUDGE!

4 days after the fact it's on his timeline!

This is being unethical. This is disgraceful to the legal community (which I'm part of) & should be reprimanded for this behavior.

Thank you.

Sherman,

I would suggest you and Liz come in on Wednesday. That will supposedly be the ending of the State's case. I am copying my deputies who deal with my courtroom security as well.

If you have any further questions, please let me know.

Prior to driving 4 hours one way I did not know if you might once again be kind enough to have 2 badges set aside so that we might be able to attend. Further given our flexibility on either of those 2 day I did not know if you might have a recommendation based on the forecast of witnesses what might be the best day to attend. I know there was some mention of the jury visiting Moselle and I would assume that would be restricted. Anyway I apologize for the length of this email and once again appreciate your kind consideration, this time as a father looking forward to spending time with his daughter.. Thank you

Good morning,

I hope this 605 form finds you both well. I just spoke with Scott Grooms outside & he asked that I send this form over. I've just landed here & I know we are a little late in the game, but I would ideally like access inside the courthouse, but if that is not possible we would like direct access to the pool photos. My editor send me here because it is allegedly taking a long time for the pool photos to stream through AP and reach our offices & they'd like me to help in getting the images & reports sooner.

Please let me know what is possible & thank you for your time. I am looking forward to getting to know this seemingly lovely town!

Please see the below completed 605 request.

All the best,
Zak

Kayla,

We are doing the jury charge for jury and judge Newman will not allow anyone in or out.

However after the charge, the courtroom will be cleared and then a notification will go out if any notes come back from jury or when the verdict comes back, media will be notified to come back in courtroom.

Hope this helps. Just tell the front security that you are here taking the place of Holly and they will give you a red badge.

Hi both,

Thank you!

On the twelfth day of his murder trial, Alex Murdaugh looked bored.

Mr Murdaugh sat hunched at the defence table in the second-floor courtroom of the Colleton County Courthouse in Walterboro, South Carolina. He wore a dark blue suit, white shirt, and no tie, his thin, rimless glasses perched on the very end of his nose. Sometimes he looked up at the witnesses speaking ahead of him, but mostly he looked down. Months in prison had whittled down his formerly heavy frame. Once a towering figure, now Alex Murdaugh looked small.

Mr Murdaugh, 54, was on trial in Walterboro for heinous crimes - execution-style killings of his wife Maggie and his son Paul in their family home. Two rows behind him in the courtroom sat his other son, 25-year-old Buster, the only surviving member of Mr Murdaugh's immediate family. Amid all the spectacle of the trial - the out of town licence plates, food trucks and media vans crowding this small city - Buster sat quietly every day in support of his father. Behind him, on the rear wall of the courtroom, there was a rectangular-shaped sun stain where a painting used to be - a portrait of his namesake, his great-grandfather Rudolph "Buster" Murdaugh, which had been taken down for the trial.

For nearly a century, the Murdaugh family dominated this rural pocket of South Carolina - a flat expanse of marshlands, palm trees, white clapboard churches and porch-ringed houses. Three generations of Murdaugh men had served as chief prosecutor of the local judicial circuit, a 3,200 square mile stretch in the state's south, while running a private litigation firm that made them rich.

But according to prosecutors, Mr Murdaugh was stealing from that firm - millions of dollars over a decade. The murders of his wife and son, they allege, were a desperate attempt to distract from those financial crimes, which were nearing exposure in another case - a wrongful death suit involving Paul. He has pleaded not guilty to the murders.

Since his first arrest in September 2021, Mr Murdaugh's case has become a bizarre and twisted saga, featuring allegations of embezzlement, drug abuse, and a faked assassination attempt. But it has also exposed the apparently unchecked power of the Murdaugh family in their small community in South Carolina, and brought about the undoing of a local dynasty.

"This is what happens when average people have no checks and balances," said Bill Nettles, former US Attorney for South Carolina.

"And there were no checks and balances on him."

To know South Carolina's Lowcountry is to know the Murdaugh family name. For 86 unbroken years, 1920 to 2006, a Murdaugh presided as the chief prosecutor for South Carolina's Fourteenth Judicial Circuit. It was the longest such stretch of family control in United States history.

"They were the law," Mr Nettles said.

For even longer, the Murdaughs worked at the family-founded litigation firm, amassing a small fortune and building out their dominance in all corners of the Lowcountry.

Along the highways in this part of the state, large billboards are posted on almost every mile. Most were for fast food restaurants and prayer hotlines, but many were for personal injury law firms - a thriving industry in the Lowcountry. And by all accounts, the Murdaugh's firm - Peters, Murdaugh, Parker, Eltzroth & Detrick (PMPED) - was the best.

"They could get a verdict that would exceed the norm dramatically," said South Carolina lawyer Joe McCulloch, who has faced three generations of Murdaughs in court.

"And when I say exceed the norm - they could turn a $100,000 case into a million dollar settlement."

The Murdaugh's judicial circuit became known as a mecca for plaintiffs, spurring rumours of judicial corruption and jury tampering. At the very least, locals said, the Murdaugh's stature gave them the upper hand in trial.

"When people graduated high school, they would send gifts, they paid for funerals, sent flowers to people who were in the hospital," said Eric Bland, a malpractice attorney based in South Carolina, who was involved in a suit against Mr Murdaugh.

"When they got in front of juries, they knew them," he said. "They salted the town with goodwill."

The rail company CSX Transportation was sued so often and so successfully by PMPED that the firm's office became known as the house that CSX built. And corporations who could avoid it reportedly skipped the area entirely.

From these two offices, as both public prosecutors and private attorneys, the Murdaughs established themselves as a de facto authority of the Lowcountry. Their influence was not wide - it did not even span the width of the state - but it was deep. In the small, insular community where they lived, residents said, the Murdaugh family ruled.

"They controlled this area for years and years," said Wally Pregnall, a retired administrator at the Medical University of South Carolina, who had driven from Charleston to see the trial up close. "The connection to the good ol' boys network, the power and the politics in South Carolina… that's all coming into play."

"We all knew them," said one waitress in town, who also didn't want to give her name, saying she didn't want to "get in trouble" for speaking out of turn. She also didn't want to be recorded. "You're just going to have to remember this," she said. "They had power, dirty power. And they took it too far."

In the third week of the trial, the former chief financial officer of PMPED Jeanne Seckinger described Alex Murdaugh's approach as a lawyer. "The art of bullshit, basically," she said.

Mr Murdaugh joined the family firm in the late 1990s, the fourth generation of his family's legal dynasty. He was successful, "not from his work ethic", Ms Seckinger said, "but his ability to establish relationships and manipulate people into settlements and clients into liking him."

According to colleagues, he was a loud and frenetic presence, always late and always in a rush, keeping different hours from the rest of the attorneys.

State and federal prosecutors - supported by testimony from Ms Seckinger and others - now say Mr Murdaugh was stealing from the firm, robbing colleagues and clients as early as 2011. Since the murders, he has been criminally charged with stealing about $8.8m (£7.31m) from a number of victims and has been disbarred. Friends have testified Mr Murdaugh has confessed to financial wrongdoing, but he has not yet entered a plea in those cases.

The prosecutors' arguments paint a picture of fraud and theft at an almost implausible scale, and of a perpetrator convinced of his impunity. Mr Murdaugh, they allege, stole indiscriminately from colleagues and clients, the young and old, the disabled and sick.

"You look at it from afar and say 'this is not possible', there has to be something to prevent abuses and improprieties that ridiculous," said veteran journalist and South Carolina University professor Randy Covington. "But the answer is no, there wasn't."

At trial, Ms Seckinger detailed at least a dozen of these crimes. Her more than three hours of testimony began to sound like a record on loop. "Alex stole it", she said, again and again. To her right, a weary-looking bailiff appeared to fall asleep, gun still holstered to his hip.

According to the prosecution, Mr Murdaugh's exact methods varied. Sometimes he faked signatures, other times he claimed inflated expenses. He syphoned millions by impersonating a legitimate insurance company.

"Everybody just assumed they were the Murdaughs so they must be doing it right," Mr Nettles said.

For years, Ms Seckinger testified, she had noticed yellow flags, small irregularities in his files. But the firm was a "brotherhood", she said. "They trusted him."

Tony Satterfield trusted Mr Murdaugh too. When Mr Satterfield's mother, Gloria - the Murdaugh's housekeeper for 20 years - died after a fall at work, Mr Murdaugh recommended a lawyer he knew who could help them file a wrongful death suit against him.

Two of Mr Murdaugh's insurance policies paid out a total of $4.3m, but the Satterfields did not receive a dime. They did not even know the case had been settled. Alex Murdaugh, in conjunction with the lawyer he recommended, had kept it himself.

"I feel like if someone had paid closer attention, they would have figured this out," said Eric Bland, the malpractice lawyer who represented the Satterfields against Mr Murdaugh. "But those kids revered the Murdaughs, they trusted him."

One year after Gloria Satterfield died, there was another fatal accident in the Murdaugh family orbit.

Late in the evening of 24 February 2019, Paul Murdaugh was aboard the family boat when it rammed headlong into the Archers Creek Bridge in Beaufort, throwing three of the six passengers - all young adults - into the cold water below. One of them, 19-year-old Mallory Beach, was killed, her body recovered days later in a marsh several miles away.

The tragedy would present a problem that Alex Murdaugh could not contain.

At the time of impact, according to all of the other passengers, Paul had been driving. A blood test would find the 19-year-old Murdaugh's blood alcohol level was three times the legal limit.

Taken together, witness testimony from the night - from the survivors, authorities, and hospital staff - renders an image of Mr Murdaugh hellbent on insulating his son. He roamed from room to room, they said, trying to speak to the teenagers. A nurse said he looked like he was trying to "orchestrate something". One passenger, Connor Cook, testified he was told by Mr Murdaugh "to keep my mouth shut". He was scared, he said, "them being who they are".

"It was a test of the system," said Mandy Mattney, a reporter based in South Carolina who has led coverage of the Murdaughs since the 2019 crash. "Everyone in Hampton really believed that Paul wouldn't be charged."

For two months, he wasn't. But the other survivors would all eventually testify that Paul was behind the wheel and in April 2019, he was charged with three crimes, including boating under the influence resulting in death. Looking back now, it may have been the moment Alex Murdaugh's life began to unravel.

The family of Mallory Beach hired a lawyer named Mark Tinsley to represent them in a wrongful death suit against Mr Murdaugh. Mr Tinsley, who is bearded and gruff, testified he planned to hold Mr Murdaugh "personally responsible" and seek millions in damages.

Mr Murdaugh claimed he was broke. "I didn't believe it," Mr Tinsley said.

So Mr Tinsley filed a motion to compel Mr Murdaugh to disclose his finances. A hearing on the matter was scheduled for 10 June, 2021. The disclosure would reveal his years of corporate fraud.

"The fuse was lit," Mr Tinsley said.

On 7 June 2021, three days before the hearing on his finances was scheduled, Alex Murdaugh called 911. His wife Maggie and son Paul had been shot, he said.

By the time the first sheriff's deputy had arrived at the family's 1,700 acre hunting estate, Moselle, Mr Murdaugh had a theory. "My son was in a boat wreck months back; he's getting threats," he said. "I know that's what it is."

Many in the Lowcountry believed him. Colleagues and friends testified they feared for Alex and his older son, Buster, thinking they both might be in danger. Mr Tinsley's case was over. "If Alex was the victim of a vigilante, nobody's going to hold him accountable," he said in court. "Sympathies had changed."

But three months later, Mr Murdaugh called 911 again, this time to report he had been shot in the head on the side of a rural road. He later admitted to arranging a botched hit on himself so that Buster could collect on his life insurance. As the ploy fell apart, PMPED disclosed they had pushed him out of the firm the day before the incident over alleged embezzlement. An investigation would later reveal he had first been confronted about missing money by CFO Jeanne Seckinger on 7 June - the day Maggie and Paul were killed. Mr Murdaugh issued a statement apologising and entered a drug rehab programme in another state.

In July 2022, Mr Murdaugh was arrested in the killings.

For five weeks now, the Murdaugh family's sordid downfall has drawn early morning crowds to the Walterboro courthouse, a line too long to fit inside. Upstairs, in the courtroom's cool air, spectators in suits and sundresses filled row after row of the dark wooden pews that line the room. At times, the atmosphere felt strangely like a church reception, Mr Murdaugh's brothers and son milling around, offering handshakes and weak smiles.

In this room, at least, sympathies have changed again. In the court of public opinion, Alex Murdaugh has lost. "He did it. I don't think it's even a question," said Deborah Brinkley, who had travelled two hours from Aiken, South Carolina to watch the proceedings.

But for a century, the Murdaugh family has made an ally out of juries, walking out of courtrooms with the judgments that built their fortune and cemented their influence. Alex Murdaugh's fate will be decided the same way, perhaps a final test of his sway in a case where all the evidence is circumstantial - there was no murder weapon found, no blood on Mr Murdaugh's t-shirt that night, no eyewitnesses to the killings.

And observers in Walterboro have speculated that Mr Murdaugh will take the stand and argue for his innocence himself.

"He still believes he still has the power to convince and manipulate regular people, like the jury," Ms Matney said. "And at the end of the day it comes down to them."

Hello,

The Murdaugh text is copied below and at this google doc: https://docs.google.com/document/d/1Ssk-nCuuDqP44eCmZhzAXBtdonjxZ_4sxPsX3J8Jeil/edit?usp=sharing

I have started a CPS file shell: 64645725

The court clerk just gave me access to the pool photos, which are great. Lots of Murdaugh and several of the characters I have in the story. https://www.flickr.com/photos/197478431@N03/

I have a freelance photographer in the area who is available but I think these will go a long way.

I will check in on Friday and can take up edits/production then or over the weekend. Scheduling the piece next week would be smart – we will catch the traffic around closing arguments etc but will still be ahead of a verdict. And there are rumours that the defence will call Alex to the stand which would add fantastic colour to the the story, particularly the end.

Thanks very much both, I'm so pleased I was able to go last week!

In the third week of Mr Murdaugh's trial, the former chief financial officer of PMPED Jeanne Seckinger described Alex Murdaugh's style as a lawyer. "The art of bullshit, basically," she said.

Mr Murdaugh, who joined the family firm in the late 1990s, was successful, "not from his work ethic", Ms Seckinger said, "but his ability to establish relationships and to manipulate people into settlements and clients into liking him".

According to colleagues, he was a loud and frenetic presence, always late and always in a rush, keeping different hours from the rest of the attorneys.

State and federal prosecutors - supported by testimony from Ms Seckinger and others - now say Mr Murdaugh was stealing from his firm, robbing colleagues and clients as early as 2011. He faces some 90 charges for alleged financial wrongdoing. Friends have testified that he confessed and apologised for the theft after it came to light, but he has not yet entered a plea in these cases.

The prosecutors' arguments paint a picture of fraud and theft at an almost implausible scale, and of a perpetrator convinced of his impunity. Mr Murdaugh, they allege, stole indiscriminately from colleagues and clients, the young and old, the disabled and sick.

"You look at it from afar and say 'this is not possible', there has to be something to prevent abuses and improprieties that ridiculous," said veteran journalist and South Carolina University professor Randy Covington. "But the answer is no, there wasn't."

At trial, Ms Seckinger detailed at least a dozen of these crimes. Her more than three hours of testimony began to sound like a record on loop. "Alex stole it", she said, again and again. To her right, a weary-looking bailiff appeared to fall asleep, gun still holstered to his hip.

According to the prosecution, Mr Murdaugh's exact methods varied. Sometimes he faked signatures, other times he claimed inflated expenses. Other methods were crude. He opened a personal bank account under the name "Forge", meant to impersonate a legitimate insurance company called Forge Consulting.

"Everybody just assumed they were the Murdaughs so they must be doing it right," Mr Nettles said.

For years, Ms Seckinger said, she had noticed yellow flags, small irregularities in his files. But the firm was a "brotherhood", she said. "They trusted him".

Tony Satterfield trusted Mr Murdaugh too. When Mr Satterfield's mother, Gloria - the Murdaugh's long time housekeeper - died after a fall at work, Mr Murdaugh recommended a lawyer he knew who could help them file a wrongful death suit against the family.

Mr Murdaugh's insurance company paid out to the tune of $4.4m, but the Satterfields did not receive a dime, they did not even know the case had been settled. Alex Murdaugh, in conjunction with the lawyer he had recommended, had kept it himself.

"I feel like if someone paid closer attention, they would have figured this out," said Eric Bland, the malpractice lawyer who represented the Satterfields in a suit against Mr Murdaugh. "But those kids revered the Murdaughs, they trusted him."

One year after Gloria Setterfield died, there was another fatal accident in the Murdaugh family orbit.

Paul Murdaugh, Mr Murdaugh's 19-year-old son, was aboard the family's boat late at night when it rammed into the Archers Creek Bridge in Beaufort, throwing three of the six passengers, all young adults, into the cold water below. One of them, 19-year-old Mallory Beach, was killed - her body recovered days later in a marsh several miles away.

News of the accident - the tragic death of a young woman, the presence of a Murdaugh - gripped the Lowcountry.

"I think folks were kind of like - this is going to be an interesting test of the system, a test to see if the system treats Paul any differently," said Bill Nettles. "Once this boat crash happened, it seems to me, it went outside something they could contain."

Later, all of the survivors except for Paul would testify that it had been him behind the wheel at the time of impact. But on the night, there seemed to be confusion about who was driving - Paul or his friend, Connor Cook.

Witnesses eventually testified that that confusion had a source: Alex Murdaugh. According to their testimony, Alex roamed from room to room, trying to speak to the teenagers. A nurse told investigators he looked like he was trying to "orchestrate something". Connor Cook testified that he was told to "to keep my mouth shut".

He was scared, he told lawyers, "them being who they are".

But two months later, in April 2019, Paul Murdaugh was charged with three crimes, including boating under the influence resulting in death. Looking back now, it may have been the moment Alex Murdaugh's life began to unravel.

The family of Mallory Beach hired a lawyer named Mark Tinsely to represent them in a wrongful death suit against Alex Murdaugh. Mr Tinsley, who is bearded and gruff, testified he planned to hold Mr Murdaugh "personally responsible" and seek millions in damages.

Mr Murdaugh claimed he was broke. "I didn't believe it," Mr Tinsley said.

So Mr Tinsley filed a motion to compel Mr Murdaugh to disclose his finances. A hearing on the matter was scheduled for 10 June, 2021. The disclosure would reveal his years of corporate fraud.

"The fuse was lit," Mr Tinsley said.

On 7 June 2021, three days before the hearing on his finances was scheduled, the Colleton County Sheriff's office received a call from Alex Murdaugh. His wife Maggie and son Paul had been shot, he said.

By the time the first sheriff's deputy had arrived at the family's 1,700 acre hunting estate, Moselle, Mr Murdaugh had a theory. "My son was in a boat wreck months back; he's getting threats," he said. "I know that's what it is."

For weeks, most people in the Lowcountry seemed to believe him. Mr Tinsley's case was over. "If Alex was the victim of a vigilante, nobody's going to hold him accountable," he said in court. "Sympathies had changed."

But in July 2022, more than a year later, Mr Murdaugh was arrested in the killings. By then, his life was in free fall. He had been pushed out of the family firm over evidence of theft. An investigation would find he had been confronted about missing money at the firm by Jeanne Seckinger on 7 June - the same day Maggie and Paul were killed. And he had admitted to organising a botched hit on himself so that his surviving son could collect on his life insurance.

"This may be the most outrageous thing I've seen in 30 years in South Carolina," journalist Randy Covington said.

But inside the Colleton County Courthouse, where the trial has now stretched for weeks, the atmosphere was mostly staid, looking at times like a wedding reception. Spectators in suits, sundresses and heels milled around in the moments between witnesses, passing around mints and sharing sweaters for the courtroom's cool air.

Several said they had come to see the powerful finally held to account, even as Mr Murdaugh was still apparently receiving deferential treatment. "He's chewing gum, he's talking to family… he even touched them," Eric Bland said. "For normal defendants, that doesn't happen."

But for decades, juries in the Lowcountry have sided with the Murdaugh family, issuing the settlements that made them wealthy. Alex Murdaugh's future will be decided the same way, perhaps a final test of his influence.

"Have you noticed?" said one woman, named Linda, who had driven from Hilton Head to watch and declined to give her last name. "He only cries when the jury is looking."

Message	I am a former paratrooper qualified US Army Veteran and left the service at a rank of Captain. I regularly shoot AR15 style rifles and have assembled them, built them, changed barrels & calibers, handguards and components. I am very familiar both with the weapon platform as well as ballistics as I reload my own ammunition for AR-15 calibers. This witness's testimony that the shooter had to be 5'2 - 5'4" is frankly pathetic. His projections rely solely on the assumption that the shooter was standing upright when shooting. He ignores the possibility(probability) that the shooter was either on one knee or standing but in a crouched position with his knees bent significantly. It is very likely an attacker would have been crouched low to conceal their presence at least at the start of the killings. He also ignores that the actual rifle could have anywhere from a 7" to 24" barrel and if it was outfitted with a collapsible stock all of his assumptions would have to change. I am hopeful you are ready to rebut these assertions as I find them laughable.

They will just come to the courthouse entrance and into the building and through security. They will be given 2 badges to come on up to courtroom. The only things allowed in are paper, pens and digital recorders.

Sincerely,

And we have been planning behind the scenes since October, so we are doing pretty good. We r trying to treat it like another trial, another defendant, etc. Just with more people and media. Lol. It takes a village.

I would suggest arriving by 830 to park and time to get through security at the courthouse and upstairs to courtroom. We will have your access badge at security checkpoint.

Safe travels.
