YORK, SC - York Electric Cooperative is actively responding to member concern over the arrest of former York County Sheriff and current YEC Trustee Kevin Tolson.

The Board of Directors, President and CEO Craig Spencer and the Leadership Team are working to address the situation and keep our membership informed as information becomes available that impacts our members. At this time, your cooperative does not know the exact details of the arrest, nor do we know the details of what took place.

Our primary goal is to continue providing the safe, affordable and reliable service our members have come to expect. "We are using this situation as an opportunity to strengthen our dedication to our member-owners and will share pertinent information as soon as it becomes available," says Board Chairman Rick Sadler. Your co-op is a democratically controlled organization and the board of trustees are elected by those we proudly serve – our members. The elected board of nine directors will continue to uphold the bylaws and represent our members with transparency and integrity as this situation unfolds. To download a copy of our bylaws, visit us online at yorkelectric.net.
